COOLIDGE IN PLEA FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Speaking At Arlington Cemetery President Says Nation Needs Better Local and Not More Federal Government.

DECLARES PEOPLE TOO FREQUENTLY CARELESS

Large Amount of Work To Be Done At Home Before America Can Hope to Start Toward the Direction of Rest of World.

WASHINGTON May 30—(A P)—Appealing for more vigilant enforcement of law on the part of states and local governments and for a universal observance of the Constitution by the American public President Coolidge in a Memorial day address today at Arlington cemetery declared that what we need is not more federal government but better local government

We are not a lawless people said the president but we are too frequently a careless one The multiplicity of laws the varied possibilities of appeals the disposition to technicality in procedure the delays and consequent expense of litigation which inevitably inure to the advantage of wealth and specialized ability—all these have been recounted as reproaches to us

It is strange that such laxities should persist in a time like the present which is marked by a determined upward movement in behalf of social welfare But they do exist They demonstrate a need for better prompter less irksome and expensive administration of the laws for uniformity of procedure for more accurate delimitation of state and federal authority

Makes No Direct Attack

Mr Coolidge made only passing reference to prohibition and did not apply his observations directly to any particular situation Declaring that when the local government unit evades its responsibility it is started in the vicious

NANSEN SAYS RELIEF TALK IS PREMATURE

Noted Explorer Declares Months of Waiting Justified Before Sending Expedition to Find Amundsen and Companions.

McMILLAN DETERMINED WILL HUNT FOR PARTY

If No Word Received Before He Starts On All-American Trip to Arctic Will Devote Himself to Search for Missing Men.

NEW YORK May 30—(A P)—Months of waiting are justified before considering an expedition for the relief of the Amundsen Ellsworth polar fliers in the opinion of Dr Fridtjof Nansen noted Arctic explorer

Berlin dispatches show Dr Nansen is among those who believe talk of a relief expedition is premature now only a little more than a week after Amundsen's departure from Spitzbergen

Commander Donald MacMillan however reiterated that if no word is heard from Amundsen and his five companions within three weeks when MacMillan's all American expedition leaves for the Arctic he will devote himself to a search for the missing explorers

Speaking at a farewell meeting held in his honor at Portland Me last night Commander MacMillan expressed the opinion that Amundsen and his comrades would not be able to go on foot and by folding boat from the pole to Cape Columbia as planned in the event their planes could not be used for the return

Government Opinion Divided

OSLO Norway May 30—(I N S)—The Norwegian government apparently was divided today on the necessity of sending an expedition into the polar region to search for the Amundsen Ellsworth fliers who left Spitzbergen in two airplanes a week ago last Thursday

In view of Amundsen's instructions that he might not return from his North Pole flight for two weeks government officials after discussing the question at one meeting of the cabinet decided to continue it to another meeting

Chancellor Avery Tells Alumni Student Body Has Increased Approximately Seven Per Cent This Year.

CLASS REUNIONS HELD SATURDAY

Present Outlook Is That $600,000 Will Be Available For Building Program On University City Campus.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Mrs Martha Cline Huffman, '06 of Broken Bow was elected president of the Alumni Association of the University of Nebraska at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon Howard S Wilson Lincoln was made vice president

The following were elected to the board of directors

Mrs Helen Gray Robertson Plattsmouth, William C Ramsay, Omaha, Earl J Lee, Fremont, Cora Cropsey McLucas, Fairbury Mrs E B Beghtol, Hastings, Floyd E Wright, Scottsbluff

Hundreds of University of Nebraska alumni gathered at the stadium Saturday morning for the annual class reunions held as part of the Roundup week program The university band furnished music and the forenoon was spent renewing acquaintances recalling student days and inspecting the university campus

Chancellor S Avery addressed the alumni at noon and reviewed the work of the school during the past year

I can now report that the registration for the current year lacks only 62 of reaching the 11 000 mark the chancellor declared With the dropping off in the attendance of some secondary courses, short courses and the like the total of students registered for college courses shows an increase of 746 This is an increase of approximately 7 per cent in registration for the fundamental work of the university

The College of Arts and Sciences shows an increase in its cultural courses Agriculture business administration dentistry engineering and law are in the main steady A large increase is shown in the graduate college which is preeminently the college of higher work In the School of fine arts the college of medicine school of journalism college of pharmacy and the teachers college

Building Program

In speaking of the building plans of the University he declared Tentatively speaking of the $900 000 available approximately $150 000 will be spent for the development of the Medical College at Omaha I assume that another $150 000 will be absolutely necessary to care for the agricultural college and Curtis If this view prevails there will be $600 000 to be spent on the city campus Just now all our plans are waiting until an expert commission appointed by the regents determines whether it is necessary to spend approximately half of this for a power plant

I know of no year since I have had any knowledge of the institution that the real work of students and faculty was less disturbed by discussion or distracted by criticism he concluded To be specific the agitation against the R O T C work resulted largely from attempted intervention by outsiders it represented no movement in the university as a whole The institution itself was not touched by certain criticisms in student publications They represented little more than the opinions of the authors

WAR RESULT OF WRONG THINKING

Only those may truly honor the heroic dead who solemnly enlist their loyalty and self sacrifice and disciplined ability in the crusade for truth said Dr Mortimer J Brown of Los Angeles in the closing statement of a Memorial Day address given before a crowd of one thousand persons in the university stadium in connection with the annual Round up exercises

Dr Brown 05 spoke for ten minutes his address preceding the Round up luncheon in the stadium at 12 30 o'clock

We speak of the dead and seek to do them honor Dr Brown said Memorials tablets flags words these do not embody the deep emotions of ascientific age

The new age has just begun Dr Brown said Man with his capacity for loyalty and self sacrifice lacks a comprehension of the fundamentals of the new day but we hope man will soon stand in the humility of confessed ignorance before his Creator he said

No imagination can adequately sketch the future of man if loyalty and self sacrifice are mustered in the crusade for truth when war will be identified as the inevitable result of untruthful and incorrect thinking This generation may see the glories of the new day only with the far seeing eye of the mind Time alone can remove from this strife weary world the millions upon whose minds are indelibly branded the axiomatic untruths of conventionalized error Only those may be genuinely free who have been born and reared in an atmosphere of intellectual honesty Only such may dream great dreams and see them come true Only such may live by a faith that begins to be worthy of our Creator's marvelous universe

Victors and vanquished alike have gone to heroic death Dr Brown stated and each generation has erected its memorials to what should not have been The bloodshed and suffering of the ages are more sad than a mind can comprehend But in addition to the bloodshed and suffering there has been a superlative tragedy the bare fact of which our generation is only beginning to comprehend That tragedy has been the inability of man to isolate study and understand the great causes and their corresponding effects that determine man's reaction to man and his environment Wars have followed wars pestilence of body and instability of mind have cursed every generation since time began and today no living man can prescribe and administer a cure

BELGIUM PICKS THEUNIS HEAD OF DEBT BODY

Commission To Arrive At Washington In September and With Italy Preparing To Send Body Also, American Committee Hopeful France Will Soon Get In Line.

PARIS, May 30—(I N S)—The Belgian government has decided to send a debt funding commission to the United States in September to arrange a "consolidation" of Belgium's war-time borrowings, and "payment" of Belgium's post-war loans, according to a Brussels dispatch to the Temps today

ExPremier Theunis and Governor Hautain of the Belgian national bank, with the necessary secretaries and other officials will compose the mission, the dispatch stated

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON May 30—Having received assurances that two of the principal debtors of the United States—Italy and Belgium—are getting ready to send debt funding commissions to Washington during the summer the government today concentrated its attention on France more hopeful than ever that definite action toward the funding of the $4 000 000 000 French debt would now be forthcoming

Members of the American debt commission believe that the French government would not delay much longer in getting on the band wagon and open debt negotiations at an early date

This is all that has actually been done by Belgium and Italy although the former's promise was more definite than that of Italy in that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as chairman of the American debt commission has been advised by the Belgian ambassador that part of the personnel of the Belgian debt commission already has been selected and that the members will proceed to the United States following a debt conference to take place shortly among officials of the Brussels government

While the debt conversations between the United States and Italy have not proceeded so far as those with Belgium Secretary Mellon has been given to understand that the Italian government is likewise preparing to open debt negotiations and that Baron DeMartino the Italian ambassador is now awaiting instructions to that effect from Rome Italy's debt is $? 135 543 000 and Belgium's $483 583 984

Concrete terms have not yet been discussed between Secretary Mellon and the Italian and Belgian representatives here It is understood that both Italy and Belgium are willing to begin interest payments as soon as funding agreements have been concluded but that they desire moratoriums on the payment of principal

Members of Patriotic Orders Renew Vows At Ceremonies In Wyuka Cemetery Following Parade---Program At Auditorium In Afternoon.

From the city streets of flashing flags and thousands of swarming people towards the cool shades of Wyuka cemetery moved a solemn, mile-long procession this morning to honor the memories of the dead on Memorial day.

As the ritual at the circle was carried on, taps were sounded and three rifle volleys sped in another part of the graveyard for doughboys who served in the world war.

A bright day but one not so hot as Memorial day last year was found by the early risers who gathered at the City auditorium early Saturday morning to make flowers and wreaths. Before 9 o'clock, the time for general assembly, all was arranged and more than a truck load of blooms sent out in advance.

Civil War Vets in Autos.

Forty autos full of G. A. R. men, members of the W. R. C., and other organiaztions connected with the Civil war veterans headed the long parade. Sons of veterans marched on either side of the slowly moving autos, and a car driven by a sailor bore the four members of a fife and drum corps who beat out their shrill tunes and rumbling marches with old time vigor.

A Woodman of the World band and drill team marched in the fourth section, reserved for civic organizations.

Going from Thirteenth and M streets to Twelfth and M, then north to O street, the procession reached sixteenth street and disbanded. Here the marchers took to several score of waiting autos for the journey to Wyuka.

Long before the parade had started hundreds of persons were streaming to the cemetery to see to the burial places of their friends and relatives. Both entrances were blocked and a solid line of cars stringing out for blocks led up to the O street gateway.

Marked By Sons of Vets.

For the first time in the history of the organization at Lincoln, Grand Army members were unable to mark the graves of their comrades in person. Markers consisting of American flags were placed at each tombstone Friday by Sons of Veterans.

But in the work of actually decorating the graves, the G. A. R. men did all that their numbers allowed. Fifteen divisions, including one at Yankee Hill cemetery, and each consisting of campfire girls, G. A. R. members, W. R. C. members and some others, walked through the cemetery. It was an hour before the flowers were distributed.

All was then ready for the more formal services at the circle. Paul Goss was in general charge; Frank Corrick and J. Lloyd McMaster assisted; Mrs. Herbert Weakley and Mrs. Laura Chappell presided over the endeavors of the W. R. C., and J. R. Herron was in command of the two score Civil war veterans.

Two hundred and forty graves are in the circle. By each stood a school girl to drop the flowers from the tombstone to the mound at the beat of a drum.

School children pledged their allegiance to the flag—a large silk emblem flew at half staff in the center all through the services — and Rev. Harmon Bross then offered invocation. The G. A. R., ritual was read.

"We are not a lawless people," said the president, "but we are too frequently a careless one. The multiplicity of laws, the varied possibilities of appeals, the disposition to technicality in procedure, the delays and consequent expense of litigation which inevitably inure to the advantage of wealth and specialized ability—all these have been recounted as reproaches to us.

"It is strange that such laxities should persist in a time like the present, which is marked by a determined upward movement in behalf of social welfare. But they do exist. They demonstrate a need for better, prompter, less irksome and expensive administration of the laws; for uniformity of procedure; for more accurate delimitation of state and federal authority."

NANSEN SAYS RELIEF TALK IS PREMATURE

Noted Explorer Declares Months of Waiting Justified Before Sending Expedition to Find Amundsen and Companions.

McMILLAN DETERMINED WILL HUNT FOR PARTY

If No Word Received Before He Starts On All-American Trip to Arctic Will Devote Himself to Search for Missing Men.

NEW YORK, May 30.—(A. P.)—Months of waiting are justified before considering an expedition for the relief of the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar fliers, in the opinion of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, noted Arctic explorer.

Berlin dispatches show Dr. Nansen is among those who believe talk of a relief expedition is premature now only a little more than a week after Amundsen's departure from Spitzbergen.

Commander Donald McMillan, however, reiterated that if no word is heard from Amundsen and his five companions within three weeks when MacMillan's all-American expedition leaves for the Arctic, he will devote himself to a search for the missing explorers.

Speaking at a farewell meeting held in his honor at Portland, Me. last night, Commander MacMillan expressed the opinion that Amundsen and his comrades would not be able to go on foot and by folding boat from the pole to Cape Columbia, as planned, in the event their planes could not be used for the return.

Government Opinion Divided.

OSLO, Norway, May 30.—(I. N. S.)—The Norwegian government apparently was divided today on the necessity of sending an expedition into the polar region to search for the Amundsen-Ellsworth fliers who left Spitzbergen in two airplanes a week ago last Thursday.

In view of Amundsen's instructions that he might not return from his North Pole flight for two weeks, government officials, after discussing the question at one meeting of the cabinet, decided to continue it to another meeting.

CONDITION OF BOY STRUCK BY CAR CRITICAL

Lee Lincoln Victim Of Accident On West P. Street Friday Night.

Driver Who Failed to Stop Later Makes Identity Known to Police.

Lee Lincoln 23, Wesleyan university senior, is in a critical condition at the Lincoln general hospital as the result of a skull fracture received Friday night when he was struck by an automobile said by police to have been driven by R. L. Bevridge of Norfolk, Neb.

Lincoln and Frank Mally, Mae Auten and Margaret Bassett, all students at Wesleyan, were walking east near the bridge over Salt Creek on west P street at the time of the accident, returning from a picnic.

According to Miss Bassett all were walking near the south side of the paving, when suddenly Lincoln was thrown to the pavement and the car went by, not stopping. A passing motorist picked them up and Lincoln was brought to the police station, and then taken to the general hospital, where an operation was performed by Drs. A. I. McKinnon and W. H. Slattery.

The car slowed up, Miss Bassett said, to avoid a party of girls ahead of them, and they thought the license number had been obtained then.

MURDER SUSPECT TAKES OWN LIFE

Dr. Presnall, Former Major, Hangs Self In Colorado Hospital.

PUEBLO, Colo., May 30.—(A. P.) Dr. Caleb W. Presnall of Trinidad, Colo., former army major, hanged himself with a pocket handkerchief Friday in the Woodcroft sanitarium here where he was under observation in connection with the mysterious death of his wife near Trinidad on July 4 last.

Dr. Presnall, reputed to be one of the state's most prominent physicians before the world war, recently underwent an operation in the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, Md., for the removal of blood clot from his brain. No unusual condition was found, however, and he was returned to Colorado to face trial on a charge of murder.

The physician had been an inmate of Woodcroft since May 14 and precautions were taken, attendants say to prevent him from doing bodily harm. Friday Presnall knotted a handkerchief around his neck and a bar over a window and kicked a chair from under him. He was found dead by a nurse.

Friends of Dr. Presnall said he had acted "queerly" since his return from the war. He was a graduate of the University of Louisville, Ky. and was 45 years old.

ENROLLMENT IS NEARLY 11,000

Chancellor Avery Tells Alumni Student Body Has Increased Approximately Seven Per Cent This Year.

CLASS REUNIONS HELD SATURDAY

Present Outlook Is That $600,000 Will Be Available For Building Program On University City Campus.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

Mrs. Martha Cline Huffman, '06, of Broken Bow was elected president of the Alumni Association of the University of Nebraska at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon. Howard S. Wilson, Lincoln, was made vice president.

The following were elected to the board of directors:

Mrs. Helen Gray Robertson, Plattsmouth; William C. Ramsay, Omaha; Earl J. Lee, Fremont; Cora Cropsey McLucas, Fairbury; Mrs. E. B. Beghtol, Hastings; Floyd E. Wright, Scottsbluff.

Hundreds of University of Nebraska alumni gathered at the stadium Saturday morning for the annual class reunions held as part of the Roundup week program. The university band furnished music and the forenoon was spent renewing acquaintances, recalling student days, and inspecting the university campus.

Chancellor S. Avery addressed the alumni at noon and reviewed the work of the school during the past year.

"I can now report that the registration for the current year lacks only 62 of reaching the 11,000 mark," the chancellor declared. "With the dropping off in the attendance of some secondary courses, short courses and the like, the total of students registered for college courses shows an increase of 746. This is an increase of approximately 7 per cent in registration for the fundamental work of the university.

"The College of Arts and Sciences shows an increase in its cultural courses. Agriculture, business administration, dentistry, engineering, and law, are in the main steady. A large increase is shown in the graduate college, which is preeminently the college of higher work; in the School of fine arts, the college of medicine, school of journalism, college of pharmacy, and the teachers college.

Building Program.

In speaking of the building plans of the University he declared: "Tentatively speaking, of the $900,000 available approximately $150,000 will be spent for the development of the Medical College at Omaha. I assume that another $150,000 will be absolutely necessary to care for the agricultural college and Curtis. If this view prevails, there will be $600,000 to be spent on the city campus. Just now all our plans are waiting until an expert commission appointed by the regents determines whether it is necessary to spend approximately half of this for a power plant."

"I know of no year since I have had any knowledge of the institution that the real work of students and faculty was less disturbed by discussion or distracted by criticism," he concluded. "To be specific, the agitation against the R. O. T. C. work resulted largely from attempted intervention by outsiders; it represented no movement in the university as a whole. The institution itself was not touched by certain criticisms in student publications. They represented little more than the opinions of the authors."

Munger to an indictment alleging the possession and forgery of a $36 veterans' bureau compensation check belonging to LeRoy Bradbury of Denver.

Henry Brown of Beatrice entered a plea of not guilty to an indictment alleging that he ent a certain letter through the mails to a Beatrice woman in which he threatened to tar and feather her unless she delivered $500 to Mrs. Brown.

The letter was signed "K K K."

Two Change Pleas.

Walter Bauer and Roy Jacobson of Lincoln, who are charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, changed their pleas Saturday morning to "guilty." Bauer was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail and Jacobson's sentnce was deferred. They are alleged to have purchased $96 worth of liquor in Omaha and brought it to Lincoln to sell. The officers found part of the liquor in Jacobson's room. When arraigned before Judge Munger a week ago both men pleaded not guilty.

Wallace H. Plourd of Indianola was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of sending an obsecene letter through the mails.

Harry Cooper, colored hotel porter, was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail for liquor law violations. Cooper pleaded guilty to the charge.

WAR RESULT OF WRONG THINKING

"Only those may truly honor the heroic dead who solemnly enlist their loyalty and self-sacrifice and disciplined ability in the crusade for truth," said Dr. Mortimer J. Brown, of Los Angeles in the closing statement of a Memorial Day address, given before a crowd of one thousand persons in the university stadium in connection with the annual Round-up exercises.

Dr. Brown, '05, spoke for ten minutes, his address preceding the Round-up luncheon in the stadium at 12:30 o'clock.

"We speak of the dead and seek to do them honor, "Dr. Brown said. "Memorials, tablets, flags, words, these do not embody the deep emotions of ascientific age."

The new age has just begun, Dr. Brown said. Man with his capacity for loyalty and self-sacrifice lacks a comprehension of the fundamentals of the new day, "but we hope man will soon stand in the humility of confessed ignorance before his Creator," he said.

"No imagination can adequately sketch the future of man if loyalty and self-sacrifice are mustered in the crusade for truth; when war will be identified as the inevitable result of untruthful and incorrect thinking. This generation may see the glories of the new day only with the far-seeing eye of the mind. Time alone can remove from this strife-weary world the millions upon whose minds are indelibly branded the axiomatic untruths of conventionalized error. Only those may be genuinely free who have been born and reared in an atmosphere of intellectual honesty. Only such may dream great dreams and see them come true. Only such may live by a faith that begins to be worthy of our Creator's marvelous universe.

"Victors and vanquished alike have gone to heroic death," Dr. Brown stated, "and each generation has erected its memorials to what should not have been. The bloodshed and suffering of the ages are more sad than a mind can comprehend. But in addition to the bloodshed and suffering there has been a superlative tragedy, the bare fact of which our generation is only beginning to comprehend. That tragedy has been the inability of man to isolate, study and understand the great causes and their corresponding effects that determine man's reaction to man and his environment. Wars have followed wars, pestilence of body and instability of mind have cursed every generation since time began, and today no living man can prescribe and administer a cure."

BELGIUM PICKS THEUNIS HEAD OF DEBT BODY

Commission To Arrive At Washington In September and With Italy Preparing To Send Body Also, American Committee Hopeful France Will Soon Get In Line.

PARIS, May 30.—(I. N. S.)—The Belgian government has decided to send a debt funding commission to the United States in September to arrange a "consolidation" of Belgium's war-time borrowings, and "payment" of Belgium's post-war loans, according to a Brussels dispatch to the Temps today.

ExPremier Theunis and Governor Hautain of the Belgian national bank, with the necessary secretaries and other officials will compose the mission, the dispatch stated.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Having received assurances that two of the principal debtors of the United States—Italy and Belgium—are getting ready to send debt funding commissions to Washington during the summer, the government today concentrated its attention on France, more hopeful than ever that definite action toward the funding of the $4,000,000,000 French debt would now be forthcoming.

Members of the American debt commission believe that the French government would not delay much longer in getting on the band wagon and open debt negotiations at an early date.

This is all that has actually been done by Belgium and Italy, although the former's promise was more definite than that of Italy in that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as chairman of the American debt commission has been advised by the Belgian ambassador that part of the personnel of the Belgian debt commission already has been selected and that the members will proceed to the United States following a debt conference to take place shortly among officials of the Brussels government.

While the debt conversations between the United States and Italy have not proceeded so far as those with Belgium, Secretary Mellon has been given to understand that the Italian government is likewise preparing to open debt negotiations and that Baron DeMarlino, the Italian ambassador, is now awaiting instructions to that effect from Rome. Italy's debt is $2,135,543,000, and Belgium's $485,583,984.

Concrete terms have not yet been discussed between Secretary Mellon and the Italian and Belgian representatives here. It is understood that both Italy and Belgium are willing to begin interest payments as soon as funding agreements have been concluded, but that they desire moratoriums on the payment of principal.

AGREEMENT ON SECURITY PACT

French and British In Accord On German Treaty Proposal and Active Parleys May Be Expected Within Month Or Six Weeks.

PARIS, May 30.—(A. P.) — The French and British governments have reached an accord on all essential points concerning the western European security pact proposed by Germany, it was stated in official circles today.

The British note to the French government detailing the British attitude, delivered yesterday by Lord Crewe, the British ambassador, marks great progress toward the point where actual negotiations of the pact itself may begin, officials believe.

A few minor points remain to be thrashed out by Franco-British negotiations before the French reply to the German security pact proposals will be sent to Berlin. However, if the optimism prevailing today at the French foreign office is fully justified, active negotiations may be expected within a month or six weeks.

IDENTIFICATION CASE NEARS END

Thought Lopez-Frazier Trial Will Go to the Jury Sometime Tuesday.

Testimony of Government Witnesses Against Man Seeking Compensation.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 30.—(A. P.)—The Arthur Lopez-Frazier identification case probably will go to the jury in federal court here Tuesday or Wednesday, it was indicated today.

The government neared the end of its long list of witnesses in its effort to prove that the plaintiff who seeks compensation is not the man he claims to be—Arthur Frazier—but is a Mexican imposter named Arthur Lopez.

After yesterday's session court was adjourned until Monday.

Claims that Arthur Lopez-Frazier is a victim of shell shock were revealed at Friday's session.

Called as a government witness, Dr. Alexander G. Dumas, nerve specialist, said he was convinced that Arthur Lopez-Frazier is not suffering from shell shock, having given him a thorough examination. Dumas has been observing the plaintiff during the trial of his unique suit against the government.

During the day's session the conclusion of which brought a three-day adjournment to Monday morning, the government introduced the testimony of Irving Jones, identification expert of the Minneapolis police department. Jones asserted that photographs of Arthur Frazier and Lopez-Frazier are not of the same man.

A handwriting expert declared the signatures of the two men were unidentical.

Suggestion that more than one Arthur Frazier was killed in France during the world war was discounted by T. C. Scott, chief clerk of the army graves registration service, Washington, D. C. The government manitains that the real Arthur Frazier died upon French battlefields

Rose of the World

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Rose," Cecy said, suddenly, "must it always be like this—this death in life? Isn't there—I don't necessarily mean divorce!—but isn't there such a thing as a separation—you and Mary in one of those little pink Spanish plaster houses out near Mom—?"

Rose had risen and was standing with her back half-turned to her sister and her gaze far away, across the fence, across the unlovely jumble of State Street, below the old quarry, across the sluggish river, and upon the far purple of the encircling hills that were like transparent lavender tissue today.

Did she think, as she stood there, of what it would mean to take her baby in her arms and leave this house of suffering and loneliness forever, to find herself in bright small rooms with flowers blooming all about them; and family and neighbors near? What it would be like to eat what she liked, to say what she liked, to read and dream in her own way, forbidden now these many years?

Perhaps it was at this exact moment that the thought came to Rose, the definite, weary, rebellious thought that separated her and her child once and for all from Clyde.

But if it did she gave no sign to the uneasily watchful Cecy when presently she spoke. Resolutely behind her Rose put the memory of solitary hours, of cruel words, of biting criticism, misunderstanding, rebuff. Nobody but herself knew of them, nobody would ever know.

"I've thought of that, Cecy, believe me!" she said, in a low troubled tone after a silence. "Not—not in any sense as a reflection on Clyde, or in revenge, because he is as unhappy as—as he can be now, of course! But Clyde would never consent."

"But why not?" Cecy asked, impatiently.

"Oh, his self-respect, my dear! His standing before the community. To have his wife and child leave him—! He is passionately ambitious, you know. And then besides," Rose finished, with a smile that had something of her old mischief in it, "he might find the old contract, you know, and then where would he be! And Cecy," she said, finally, with a suddenly grave face, and a kiss for the baby she had caught up into her arms, "while I have Mary, nothing else matters! I'm almost glad, sometimes, that my life is so—so empty and so hard, and so lonely, because it gives her more to me, every breath she draws, every little garment and meal and nap—is mine. She and I have roomed together since she was so ill, last winter—we are never apart—I would do it all again, I would have it twice as hard—for her!"

An hour later, with the baby cuddling between them, they went out into the comparative openness of Santa Clara Street and Upper River Street, and Cecy at last drew a long breath of relief. The trees were friendly here, affording long glimpses of pleasant barns and blooming gardens through their great branches The Rogers house and the Terry house, all the aristocratic houses of Gates Mill were grouped here, and Rose experienced a sudden great emotion of real delight thinking of Cecy as established here and rejoicing that her beloved little sister's life had fallen into such ideal lines.

Bozzy was fat, and he was not clever, but he was a sweet, simple fellow, generous and kindly, and Cecy was not so smart that she would leave him behind her as the years went by. They would have their home and their car, and their vacations at Fallen Leaf Lake, their card parties and tennis matches, and some day their nice children, who would love Aunt Rose—

This afternoon Mrs. Terry had formally asked in the neighborhood "to meet Miss Cecilia Kirby." Everybody knew Cecy Kirby, of course, and everybody knew exactly what her name penned upon old Mrs. Terry's card in this fashion meant. Cecy and Rosalind were aware of parked cars, fluttering summer gowns, and an air of great festivity about the comfortable old wooden house with its porches and its magnificent gardens as they came in.

Cecy had on her prettiest frock of pink crepe-de-chine; a white hat with pink roses on it was pressed against her soft dark hair; she looked shy, young, radiant, standing beside the older women, as good wishes and congratulations were showered upon her. It was one of the great days of Cecy's life; Rose was secretly pleased to find the bride-elect and her promised husband concealed in the pantry, late in the afternoon, eating macaroons, talking absorbedly, and lost to everything but each other's company.

"Gosh, wasn't it fierce, Rose," Bozzy asked, fervently, and Cecy said positively:

"We have decided never to be engaged again, Sis. Once is enough!"

"No spoiling, no budding snobbishness there!" Rose thought, thankfully, as she left them to their cakes and went upon her way to find her baby, who had been confided to the agreeable company of the one smal Rogers seven-year-old and the three little Terry grandchildren. Crossing the side lawn, in the long, sweet shadows of the dying day, she met the older Mrs. Talbot with Jack and Edith.

Rose's heart always gave a little twist of pleasure when she saw Jack. It did not happen often, for she rarely went to the office, and for the past two or three years her trips to market and shops, and long quiet afternoons with her mother, had been the chief of Rose's reasons for leaving her house at all. The big figure was dressed in white flannels today: Rose knew just the tilt of the straw hat, and the touch of the lean, strong hand in greeting. But Jack, at thirty-two, was older; there was some gray in his heavy shock of fair hair, and his expression had lost something of its old grinning, boyish serenity.

Edith was just the same; she was one of those attractively slim young girls who seem to harden, at seventeen or eighteen, into a very mould of lifeless, toneless, characterless adolescence. She had always been colourless, flat-breasted, sleek-haired, complacently ignorant and undeveloped, and she always would be—priding herself upon mediocre attainments, satisfied with little catch phrases for the vital things of life, unable to see, feel, or understand anything that did not immediately affect herself.

She was furious today for two reasons, or at least for two causes that seemed reasons for ill-temper, to her.

Her first reason was that for several weeks, for almost three months, she had been aware of a disquieting suspicion that had grown stronger and stronger, terminating with the definite knowledge that she was to have a child Edith had always spoken of this possibility casually: "If we have kiddies" was indeed a favourite expression with her.

But now, after five years of marriage, nature had taken her unawares, and Edith resented it bitterly. She had never been ill, and she felt sick and wretched and blue and cold and miserable now, almost all the time, and she resented that, too. It had been a favourite hallucination of hers that she could experience motherhood "without knowing it."

Ahletic, boyishly built, and feeling a profund distaste for being watched, babied, for being even in the least degree helpless or dependent, she loathed her new role. To divert her mother-in-law's fluttering surveillance at breakfast Edith made herself faint with nauseous coffee and eggs whose mere appearance made her turn pale. At the mere mention of hospital, little flannels, "your condition," "sweet new responsibilities," she writhed.

The crowning indignity was when Newman the doctor whose word was law in all the nurseries of Gates Mill, forbade dancing, diving, tennis, and horseback riding Edith listened to him sullenly, quoted him with hot scorn, and assured the anxious Jack that she hadn't the remotest notion of obeying the poor old mollie!

In the second place, Edith bitterly resented the fuss that all her world had been making of late over Cecy Kirby's engagement to Bozzy Terry.

Edith had had all this pleasant adulation once, and had accepted it complacently, as her due Five years ago, at eighteen, it had been her pleasant privilege to draw Jack Talbot away from his silly infatuation for Rose Kirby, and prettily to accept dinner parties, engagement cups, and all the admiration and honour of making a brilliant match. Cecy Kirby had been only a year younger than she, but what bottomless chasms of education, position, advantage, had seemed to separate the two girls!

Now Cecy had captured the richest boy in town, and a nice boy, too, if one didn't mind Bozzy's being fat and rather silly. And to this obscure little Gates Mill belle was coming even more than the normal amount of delightful, youthful excitement, Edith felt. Old Mrs. Terry, who seemed to have no usual maternal jealousies or resentment, had taken the girl to her heart, and everybody, Edith supposed wearily and scornfully, would have to follow suit. It was all so sickeningly tiresome!

To add to her annoyance, Rose, the slighted older sister, had married Clyde Bainbridge, Jack's partner and adviser, and a stockholder in the Talbot Iron Works. So that these obnoxious Kirbys—

"Hello, Rose," Edith said, smilingly; "nice to see you!"

"Hello, Edith—how do you do, Mrs. Talbot?" Rose returned, and raising her eyes to the quietly watching man, and with a little deepening of her smile she added: "Jack."

"Proud of your little sister?—but I know you are!" he asked, holding her hand, and looking down at her affectionately.

"Glad she' sso happy!" Rose amended.

"I didn't think Cecy would marry at all," Edith contributed, in her quick, smooth voice. "Of course, she's not very old—"

Rose merely smiled at her and did not answer, and Jack thought of the quick, indignant defense that would have flashed forth six years ago, and told himself that he knew in what school Rose learned this hard lesson of silence.

She stood smiling pleasantly at the two women of his household, beautiful little friendly Rose, who looked like a child today in white mull frock, with a blue lining to her white summer hat. He noted the kindness of the wonderful eyes that just matched the hat, and the exquisite glow on the velvet-smooth cheekc. Edith and his mother had been quarrelling, not bitterly or loudly, but in icy undertones and suppressed asides, and in contrast Rose's radiant happines in her iter' happiness seemed heart-warming.

His mother had had a small apartment in Gates Mill for a time, but loneliness and resourcefulness had driven her back for one of her periodic visits to her own old home. The house would have sheltered a score of mothers and wives, but was too small for these two women, who each had to have at least one private interview with Jack daily, to "simply explain" some misunderstanding, or to ask his "unbiased opinion" about some altercation between them.

"How old is Cecy?" he aswed now, smilingly.

"Twenty-two," Rose answered, without comment.

"I married at eighteen!" Edith said, quickly. "Aren't you coming in, Jack? We're late enough now, I should think!"

"Come see me, Rose, and bring that dear baby!" the elder Mrs. Talbot said, partly because she really was lonely and not very well, and partly with an instinctive willingness to annoy Edith. "Beautiful girl!" she added, admiringly, as the three parted from Rose, who went upon her way toward the sound of children's voices.

"Jack thinks so!" Edith agreed, viciously. Jack made no comment.

FOREIGN PARENTS GET FULL AWARD

Czecho-Slovakians Allowed $5,250 For Miklas' Death In Omaha.

Kennedy Rules Paralysis Brought On By Over-exertion Is 'Accident.'

Though living in Europe and citizens of another nation, the parents of Frank Miklas, accidentally killed at Omaha last September while working for William Barber and the Carter White Lead Works, will receive full benefit of the compensation law of Nebraska.

A claim was filed in their behalf by the executor of Miklas' estate, and the Czecho-Slovakian consul at Omaha asked for an allowance of $150 to help pay the funeral expenses. Before the two matters came to a hearing, compensation, was voluntarily paid and the funeral item was also paid. The parents will receive $5,250, minus the fees of the executor and attorney.

Compensated for Paralysis.

Is paralysis, occurring while one is working at his employment and presumably brought on by over exertion, an "accident" entitling the employe to compensation under the law of Nebraska? State Labor Secretary Kennedy holds that it comes under that head, and has awarded John Blackburn of Omaha $15 a week to be paid by Armour & Co. because of a stroke he suffered last January while lifting a heavy table. Blackburn is to get $15 a week during the period his disability continues.

Another Omaha claimant, Mrs. G. Conway, is allowed $253 compensation against the Iten Biscuit Co for the loss of one joint of her index finger on the right hand, due to a employes in the company's factory played on her.

J. M. Jensen, Lincoln, hurt last February by a brick falling out of a bucket overhead and striking him on the head, has settled privately with his employer, the Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Co., and the case will not be heard.

An award of $322.50 for 25 per cent permanent disability of the left leg, due to a compound fracture of the thighbone three years ago, has been made to Glen Carden, Omaha messenger boy, against the Western Union Telegraph Co. Bills for hospital treatment and medical attention, amounting to $2,420, have been paid heretofore by the employer.

Robert Houston of Omaha got a lump settlement of $1,000 from the Uneeda Cafeteria of that city for the amputation of his foot, after the bones had become infected from a slight injury. This is approved by Secretary Kennedy.

FRAZIER GRAVE IS REMEMBERED

Flowers Planted On Little Plot In Cemetery At Niobrara.

NIOBRARA, Neb., May 30.—(A. P.)—While a federal court in Minneapolis was in adjournment in its trial to establish whether Arthur Frazier, Sioux Indian youth, died on the battlefield of France or if shell shocked, he returned to this country to wander unknown until found by his parents in Oklahoma, a grave which bears his name in the Niobrara cemetery was not forgotten on this memorial day.

Relatives of Frazier here have always cared for the grave. Since it was disturbed last year for the exhumation of the body in the probe of the Lopez-Frazier identity, the mound has been raked and replanted with flowers

Opinions here differ as to whose grave it is. Some are content to believe it is that of Arthur Frazier, while others say they will always believe it that an unknown soldier, confused with that of the Sioux youth.

Only two pine boards mark the mound, the headpiece designing it as the grave of Frazier Such it will be known, until proved different.

IDENTIFICATION CASE NEARS END

Thought Lopez-Frazier Trial Will Go to the Jury Sometime Tuesday.

Testimony of Government Witnesses Against Man Seeking Compensation.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 30.—(A. P.)—The Arthur Lopez-Frazier identification case probably will go to the jury in federal court here Tuesday or Wednesday, it was indicated today.

The government neared the end of its long list of witnesses in its effort to prove that the plaintiff who seeks compensation is not the man he claims to be—Arthur Frazier—but is a Mexican imposter named Arthur Lopez.

After yesterday's session court was adjourned until Monday.

Claims that Arthur Lopez-Frazier is a victim of shell shock were revealed at Friday's session.

Called as a government witness, Dr. Alexander G. Dumas, nerve specialist, said he was convinced that Arthur Lopez-Frazier is not suffering from shell shock, having given him a thorough examination. Dumas has been observing the plaintiff during the trial of his unique suit against the government.

During the day's session the conclusion of which brought a three-day adjournment to Monday morning, the government introduced the testimony of Irving Jones, identification expert of the Minneapolis police department. Jones asserted that photographs of Arthur Frazier and Lopez-Frazier are not of the same man.

A handwriting expert declared the signatures of the two men were unidentical.

Suggestion that more than one Arthur Frazier was killed in France during the world war was discounted by T. C. Scott, chief clerk of the army graves registration service, Washington, D. C. The government manitains that the real Arthur Frazier died upon French battlefields.

Rose of the World

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Rose," Cecy said, suddenly, "must it always be like this—this death in life? Isn't there—I don't necessarily mean divorce!—but isn't there such a thing as a separation—you and Mary in one of those little pink Spanish plaster houses out near Mom—?"

Rose had risen and was standing with her back half-turned to her sister and her gaze far away, across the fence, across the unlovely jumble of State Street, below the old quarry, across the sluggish river, and upon the far purple of the encircling hills that were like transparent lavender tissue today.

Did she think, as she stood there, of what it would mean to take her baby in her arms and leave this house of suffering and loneliness forever, to find herself in bright small rooms with flowers blooming all about them; and family and neighbors near? What it would be like to eat what she liked, to say what she liked, to read and dream in her own way, forbidden now these many years?

Perhaps it was at this exact moment that the thought came to Rose, the definite, weary, rebellious thought that separated her and her child once and for all from Clyde.

But if it did she gave no sign to the uneasily watchful Cecy when presently she spoke. Resolutely behind her Rose put the memory of solitary hours, of cruel words, of biting criticism, misunderstanding, rebuff. Nobody but herself knew of them, nobody would ever know.

"I've thought of that, Cecy, believe me!" she said, in a low troubled tone after a silence. "Not—not in any sense as a reflection on Clyde, or in revenge, because he is as unhappy as—as he can be now, of course! But Clyde would never consent."

"But why not?" Cecy asked, impatiently.

"Oh, his self-respect, my dear! His standing before the community. To have his wife and child leave him—! He is passionately ambitious, you know. And then besides," Rose finished, with a smile that had something of her old mischief in it, "he might find the old contract, you know, and then where would he be! And Cecy," she said, finally, with a suddenly grave face, and a kiss for the baby she had caught up into her arms, "while I have Mary, nothing else matters! 'm almost glad, sometimes, that my life is so—so empty and so hard, and so lonely, because it gives her more to me, every breath she draws, every little garment and meal and nap—is mine. She and I have roomed together since she was so ill, last winter—we are never apart—I would do it all again, I would have it twice as hard—for her!"

An hour later, with the baby toddling between them, they went out into the comparative openness of Santa Clara Street and Upper River Street, and Cecy at last drew a long breath of relief. The trees were friendly here, affording long glimpses of pleasant barns and blooming gardens through their great branches. The Rogers house and the Terry house, all the aristocratic houses of Gates Mill were grouped here, and Rose experienced a sudden great emotion of real delight thinking of Cecy as established here and rejoicing that her beloved little sister's life had fallen into such ideal lines.

Bozzy was fat, and he was not clever, but he was a sweet, simple fellow, generous and kindly, and Cecy was not so smart that she would leave him behind her as the years went by. They would have their home and their car, and their vacations at Fallen Leaf Lake, their card parties and tennis matches, and some day their nice children, who would love Aunt Rose—

This afternoon Mrs. Terry had formally asked in the neighborhood "to meet Miss Cecilia Kirby." Everybody knew Cecy Kirby, of course, and everybody knew exactly what her name penned upon old Mrs. Terry's card in this fashion meant. Cecy and Rosalind were aware of parked cars, fluttering summer gowns, and an air of great festivity about the comfortable old wooden house with its porches and its magnificent gardens as they came in.

Cecy had on her prettiest frock of pink crepe-de-chine; a white hat with pink roses on it was pressed against her soft dark hair; she looked shy, young, radiant, standing beside the older women, as good wishes and congratulations were showered upon her. It was one of the great days of Cecy's life; Rose was secretly pleased to find the bride-elect and her promised husband concealed in the pantry, late in the afternoon, eating macaroons, talking absorbedly, and lost to everything but each other's company.

"Gosh, wasn't it fierce, Rose," Bozzy asked, fervently, and Cecy said positively:

"We have decided never to be engaged again, Sis. Once is enough!"

"No spoiling, no budding snobbishness there!" Rose thought, thankfully, as she left them to their cakes and went upon her way to find her baby, who had been confided to the agreeable company of the one smal Rogers seven-year-old and the three little Terry grandchildren. Crossing the side lawn, in the long, sweet shadows of the dying day, she met the older Mrs. Talbot with Jack and Edith.

Rose's heart always gave a little twist of pleasure when she saw Jack. It did not happen often, for she rarely went to the office, and for the past two or three years her trips to market and shops, and long quiet afternoons with her mother, had been the chief of Rose's reasons for leaving her house at all. The big figure was dressed in white flannels today; Rose knew just the tilt of the straw hat, and the touch of the lean, strong hand in greeting. But Jack, at thirty-two, was older; there was some gray in his heavy shock of fair hair, and his expression had lost something of its old grinning, boyish serenity.

Edith was just the same; she was one of those attractively slim young girls who seem to harden, at seventeen or eighteen, into a very mould of lifeless, toneless, characterless adolescence. She had always been colourless, flat-breasted, sleek-haired, complacently ignorant and undeveloped, and she always would be—priding herself upon mediocre attainments, satisfied with little catch phrases for the vital things of life, unable to see, feel, or understand anything that did not immediately affect herself.

She was furious today for two reasons, or at least for two causes that seemed reasons for ill-temper, to her.

Her first reason was that for several weeks, for almost three months, she had been aware of a disquieting suspicion that had grown stronger and stronger, terminating with the definite knowledge that she was to have a child. Edith had always spoken of this possibility casually; "If we have kiddies" was indeed a favourite expression with her.

But now, after five years of marriage, nature had taken her unawares, and Edith resented it bitterly. She had never been ill, and she felt sick and wretched and blue and cold and miserable now, almost all the time, and she resented that, too. It had been a favourite hallucination of hers that she could experience motherhood "without knowing it."

Ahletic, boyishly built, and feeling a profund distaste for being watched, babied, for being even in the least degree helpless or dependent, she loathed her new role. To divert her mother-in-law's fluttering surveillance at breakfast Edith made herself faint with nauseous coffee and eggs whose mere appearance made her turn pale. At the mere mention of hospital, little flannels, "your condition," "sweet new responsibilities," she writhed.

The crowning indignity was when Newman the doctor whose word was law in all the nurseries of Gates Mill, forbade dancing, diving, tennis, and horseback riding. Edith listened to him sullenly, quoted him with hot scorn, and assured the anxious Jack that she hadn't the remotest notion of obeying the poor old mollie!

In the second place, Edith bitterly resented the fuss that all her world had been making of late over Cecy Kirby's engagement to Bozzy Terry.

Edith had had all this pleasant adulation once, and had accepted it complacently, as her due Five years ago, at eighteen, it had been her pleasant privilege to draw Jack Talbot away from his silly infatuation for Rose Kirby, and prettily to accept dinner parties, engagement cups, and all the admiration and honour of making a brilliant match. Cecy Kirby had been only a year younger than she, but what bottomless chasms of education, position, advantage, had seemed to separate the two girls!

Now Cecy had captured the richest boy in town, and a nice boy, too, if one didn't mind Bozzy's being fat and rather silly. And to this obscure little Gates Mill belle was coming even more than the normal amount of delightful, youthful excitement. Edith felt. Old Mrs. Terry, who seemed to have no usual maternal jealousies or resentment, had taken the girl to her heart, and everybody, Edith supposed wearily and scornfully, would have to follow suit. It was all so sickeningly tiresome!

To add to her annoyance, Rose, the slighted older sister, had married Clyde Bainbridge, Jack's partner and adviser, and a stockholder in the Talbot Iron Works. So that these obnoxious Kirbys—

"Hello, Rose," Edith said, smilingly; "nice to see you!"

"Hello, Edith—how do you do, Mrs. Talbot?" Rose returned, and raising her eyes to the quietly watching man, and with a little deepening of her smile she added: "Jack."

"Proud of your little sister?—but I know you are!" he asked, holding her hand, and looking down at her affectionately.

"Glad she' sso happy!" Rose amended.

"I didn't think Cecy would marry at all," Edith contributed, in her quick, smooth voice. "Of course, she's not very old—"

Rose merely smiled at her and did not answer, and Jack thought of the quick, indignant defense that would have flashed forth six years ago, and told himself that he knew in what school Rose learned this hard lesson of silence.

She stood smiling pleasantly at the two women of his household, beautiful little friendly Rose, who looked like a child today in white mull frock, with a blue lining to her white summer hat. He noted the kindness of the wonderful eyes that just matched the hat, and the exquisite glow on the velvet-smooth cheekc. Edith and his mother had been quarrelling, not bitterly or loudly, but in icy undertones and suppressed asides, and in contrast Rose's radiant happines in her iter' happiness seemed heart-warming.

His mother had had a small apartment in Gates Mill for a time, but loneliness and resourcefulness had driven her back for one of her periodic visits to her own old home. The house would have sheltered a score of mothers and wives, but was too small for these two women, who each had to have at least one private interview with Jack daily, to "simply explain" some misunderstanding, or to ask his "unbiased opinion" about some altercation between them.

"How old is Cecy?" he aswed now, smilingly.

"Twenty-two," Rose answered, without comment.

"I married at eighteen!" Edith said, quickly. "Aren't you coming in, Jack? We're late enough now, I should think!"

"Come see me, Rose, and bring that dear baby!" the elder Mrs. Talbot said, partly because she really was lonely and not very well, and partly with an instinctive willingness to annoy Edith. "Beautiful girl!" she added, admiringly, as the three parted from Rose, who went upon her way toward the sound of children's voices.

"Jack thinks so!" Edith agreed, viciously. Jack made no comment.

FOREIGN PARENTS GET FULL AWARD

Czecho-Slovakians Allowed $5,250 For Miklas' Death In Omaha.

Kennedy Rules Paralysis Brought On By Over-exertion Is 'Accident.'

Though living in Europe and citizens of another nation, the parents of Frank Miklas, accidentally killed at Omaha last September while working for William Barber and the Carter White Lead Works, will receive full benefit of the compensation law of Nebraska.

A claim was filed in their behalf by the executor of Miklas' estate, and the Czecho-Slovakian consul at Omaha asked for an allowance of $150 to help pay the funeral expenses. Before the two matters came to a hearing, compensation was voluntarily paid and the funeral item was also paid. The parents will receive $5,250, minus the fees of the executor and attorney.

Compensated for Paralysis.

Is paralysis, occurring while one is working at his employment and presumably brought on by over exertion, an "accident" entitling the employe to compensation under the law of Nebraska? State Labor Secretary Kennedy holds that it comes under that head, and has awarded John Blackburn of Omaha $15 a week to be paid by Armour & Co. because of a stroke he suffered last January while lifting a heavy table. Blackburn is to get $15 a week during the period his disability continues.

Another Omaha claimant, Mrs. G. Conway, is allowed $253 compensation against the Iten Biscuit Co. for the loss of one joint of her index finger on the right hand, due to a employes in the company's factory played on her.

J. M. Jensen, Lincoln, hurt last February by a brick falling out of a bucket overhead and striking him on the head, has settled privately with his employer, the Lincoln Gas & Electric Light Co., and the case will not be heard.

An award of $322.50 for 25 per cent permanent disability of the left leg, due to a compound fracture of the thighbone three years ago, has been made to Glen Carden, Omaha messenger boy, against the Western Union Telegraph Co. Bills for hospital treatment and medical attention, amounting to $2,420, have been paid heretofore by the employer.

Robert Houston of Omaha got a lump settlement of $1,000 from the Uneeda Cafeteria of that city for the amputation of his foot, after the bones had become infected from a slight injury. This is approved by Secretary Kennedy.

$430 Raised For Relief Fund by Sale of Poppies

Five thousand poppies were sold by the auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars May 23, a report by Jennie Cochrane, president of the auxiliary, shows. The sum of $430.60 was netted for the relief fund, and according to the report, is considered highly satisfactory.

Appreciation is expressed by the president to those who aided in supplying milk, medicine, fuel, clothing, bread and butter for needy children by buying poppies.

The auxiliary announces that a monogrammed quilt has been presented to the national V. F. W. home, near Battle Creek, Mich., by the local organization. The home, which was donated by Corey L. FRAZIER GRAVE IS REMEMBERED

Flowers Planted On Little Plot In Cemetery At Niobrara.

NIOBRARA, Neb., May 30.—(A. P.)—While a federal court in Minneapolis was in adjournment in its trial to establish whether Arthur Frazier, Sioux Indian youth, died on the battlefield of France or if shell shocked, he returned to this country to wander unknown until found by his parents in Oklahoma, a grave which bears his name in the Niobrara cemetery was not forgotten on this memorial day.

Relatives of Frazier here have always cared for the grave. Since it was disturbed last year for the exhumation of the body in the probe of the Lopez-Frazier identity, the mound has been raked and replanted with flowers.

Opinions here differ as to whose grave it is. Some are content to believe it is that of Arthur Frazier, while others say they will always believe it that an unknown soldier, confused with that of the Sioux youth.

Only two pine boards mark the mound, the headpiece designing it as the grave of Frazier. Such it will be known, until proved different.

THE OIL LEASE DECISION.

Judge Paul J. McCormick in the federal court at Los Angeles has entered an order directing the Doheny oil interests to surrender their lease to the naval oil reserve on Elk Hill for cancellation and at the same time he set aside the contract for the construction of oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The public should observe carefully the conclusions which the federal judge reached and the reasons he advanced for setting aside the contract and cancelling the lease:

First, Owing to the "fraud" upon the United States, involved in the payment of $100,000 to Albert F. Fall, then secretary of the interior.

Second, Because ex-President Harding's order transferring discretionary authority in the matter of the oil leases from the navy to the interior department was in excess of his power as president.

Notice of appeal has already been given and the case unquestionably will be taken to the supreme court of the United States for final review and decision.

Observe the language employed by the court in delivering his opinion. Judge McCormick declares that a fraud was perpetrated upon the United States in the leasing of the naval oil reserve to the Doheny interests. If the senatorial committee investigating this transaction ever needed any justification for the methods which it employed, or the findings which it submitted at the conclusion of a long and wearing hearing, it has it in the judicial finding of the court. Senator Walsh and his associates performed a great and lasting service to the people for the untiring zeal which they revealed in bringing the facts to the country's attention. They were berated and abused by men high in official responsibility and the effort was made to discredit the work which they were performing for partisan advantage.

Without considering the material results, although Mr. Doheny frankly admitted during the senatorial inquiry that he expected to make millions out of the lease which the former secretary of the interior had given him, the moral triumph which the people have won cannot be overestimated.

Decent government demanded that the leasing of these naval oil reserves to private interests, under the circumstances which were developed during the testimony brought out in the senatorial hearing, should be nullified. Integrity and honor and fidelity to public trust required that no such precedent should be allowed to stand unchallenged. In all of the years of the republic, there never was a transaction by government officials which called for a rebuke to a larger degree than the action of Fall in turning over public property to one of the greatest oil magnates in this country.

Justice has been vindicated in the decision by Judge McCormick in the federal court of Los Angeles.

The action brought by the government to cancel the Sinclair lease to the Naval reserve in the Teapot Dome field is still under consideration. While the principle involved in that transaction is similar to the issue raised in the leasing of the Elk Hill reserve in some particulars, there was no direct evidence because some of the witnss greatly desired by the government counsel were spending vacations in other parts of the world. They were wanted to explain the disposition of certain Liberty bonds, which were alleged to have come into Fall's possession.

More important than the mere recovery of these oil tracts is the bearing which this decision will have upon the future conservation policy of America. Had the court found Mr. Doheny entitled to retain the lease which had been granted him, all of the efforts of Roosevelt and Pinchot and others, who fought courageously and powerfully against influential and unscrupulous enemies to preserve the natural resources of this country for the use of the people, would have been undone. The outcome of this case is a matter of deep congratulation.

FEDERAL EXCISE AUTO TAXES.

The appeal addressed to Secretary Mellon of the treasury department by a special committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce merits careful consideration. Ever since the war the automobile has been carrying more than its just share of taxation, and more particularly has the discrimination been marked since congress repealed most of the so-called "nuisance taxes" adopted as an emergency measure.

In their brief to the secretary of the treasury, the automobile men set forth these claims in support of their request for the repeal of the federal motor vehicle excise taxes:

Unfair to tax any one group especially for the purposes of general welfare.

Congress has already recognized the unfairness of war emergency taxes in repealing some of them.

Automobile taxes are taxes upon transportation. Other special taxes on transportation have been removed.

Federal aid road funds are paid because of the general benefit to society, not for the special use of the automotive industry. Federal aid payments have totalled but 47 per cent of federal motor tax collections.

The tax replacements is a tax on misfortune.

The tax is costly and difficult to administer.

There are 17,500,000 automobile owners in America, the committee points out. The federal excise tax is paid by them, since the manufacturer merely passes it along to the ultimate consumer. All cars in recent years have been sold on the basis of a nationally advertised list price, plus war tax. In no one, particular then, with the single possible exception of the income tax, would it be possible to lighten the tax burden of a larger number of people where the full and complete benefits would accrue to them as through the elimination of the federal excise tax.

Even while removing taxes on other so-called luxuries, congress has tenaciously hung to the tax on automobiles because it was an easy way of raising money. The time has come when it should be eliminated.

CHICAGO'S GREAT HOTEL.

At this time when interest in the hotel situation in Lincoln has been aroused by the proposal to build a new million dollar hostelry in this city comes the announcement that Chicago is planning the biggest hotel in the world.

Preliminary plans call for a building with 1,000 rooms. The contract, it is said, will be the largest ever let for a building, which may be interpreted to mean that it is the greatest building ever constructed. The structure will require 450,000 tons of steel, and 18,000 men will be employed in its construction. It will contain an auditorium seating 16,000 people. The towering walls will rise for twenty-six stories above the shores of Lake Michigan.

For the time being Chicago has shelved her zoning ordinance to make room for this monumental structure. It is to be built in the heart of the congested district, where more recently rigid restrictions were placed against skyscrapers of the modern type.

The entire project calls forth such engineering genius, architectural skill and capital expenditure that it may well be calculated to excite the awe of the world. What particular situation in Chicago calls for a building of this description does not appear because the Windy City has been well supplied with hotels of modern construction in recent years. It will be a venture which will catch the eyes of the world.

ANOTHER CONQUEST.

The world's "most successful ambassador," the Prince of Wales, has just demonstrated once more that his charm in pleasing the citizens of various countries and the members of several races was not lost during the recent American trip. His latest conquest has been South Africa, where natives as well as other subjects of the empire had freely predicted he would fail.

Landing at Cape Town he received an ovation from Dutch and British resident alike. Members of the old Boer nationalist faction were included in the swarms that welcomed him.

In the days that followed, he seemed more and more popular and quickly ingratiated himself with nearly all South Africa. Dutchmen, who a few years ago were agitating secession, seemed his warmest friends. And all this was accomplished by the prince with seemingly the slightest of efforts, except that at all times he wore an attitude of friendly concern in the affairs of any man whom he met.

There is something about the ease with which this slight young man gets along with people that makes us wonder if it is so easy after all, and a little "inside information" shows that the supposition is correct. Months ago at the time of the prince's return from America he set himself to the task of learning South Africa. He studied its history and conditions there. He engaged a distinguished South African scholar to help him, and even acquainted himself with the colonial language.

His greatest triumph was scored when he replied in Dutch to a toast at a great banquet. English and Boer guests like leapt to their feet before he had well started and shouted approval.

Even a prince, and seemingly the most naturally charming prince in the world, is unable to do great works—for cementing the rifts of the English empire is great work—without hours of study in subjects that may not be congenial.

"Easy Money."

You often hear the doctor's fees thus referred to when he calls at your home, stays a few minutes with the patient, prescribes and then charges three or four dollars.

It may seem like easy money to the casual observer, but let us see just how "easy" it is.

In the old days the medical student could attain his education inexpensively. He served an apprenticeship under a preceptor and took one or two courses of lectures at a medical college.

At present, he must possess credentials consisting of a high school diploma, two to four-year work at an accredited college or university, four years work in a reputable medical school and then one to three years work in an approved hospital. After this he takes the state board examination to see if he is even fit to license for the practice of medicine.

With a very conservative estimate of $1,500 a year, for the cost of his learning, and $1,800 a year which he might have earned if not studying, he has an investment of from $12,000 to $18,000 capital before he even begins earning. Often he has had to borrow a large part of this and is repaying it, with interest, for the first few years of practice.

The up-to-date physician in addition requires equipment of no negligible cost. He must have appropriately furnished offices and office help. Laboratory, chemicals, innumerable delicate instruments, his automobile and other items which easily amount to from $4,000 upward.

There is no other profession so poorly repaid for the time and cost required for proficiency. Nor is there another so misunderstood by those who seek short-cuts and easy-roads. The desire to obtain much for little actuates most of the criticism of doctors.

The span of the average human life has been increased fifteen years within the past seventy years. Diseases, like smallpox, yellow fever and diphtheria, that were formerly scourges of humanity have been almost eradicated. Other advances, too numerous to mention, go to make things easier and happier for those who are handicapped in this life.

It has all been achieved at a tremendous expenditure of time, effort and money. So do not kick if you are asked to share your part of the cost.

Questions and Answers.
Questions may be sent in care of The Star.

Question—For the sake of deciding an argument can you tell us the name of the doctor who discovered the cure for diabetes? Carl M.

Answer—Dr. Banting of the University of Toronto, recently discovered, and gave to the medical fession, insulin. He does not claim that this preparation is a cure for diabetes. It is a valuable agent, however, in the treatment of this disease.

"How shall man acquire a conscience?" Well, what's the matter with the old plan, "Will you marry me?"

If men can outlaw barbarous war, and keep their pledges in this respect, they can as easily outlaw all war.

"Anybody can acquire a good vocabulary," but only the wise can keep the thing from working too hard.

The only drawback to a ball game is that you can't hear what the frenzied second baseman is saying to the umpire.

Correct this sentence: "Yeah, it's getting thin," he admitted: "but I've never tried any kind of tonic."

Honor American Dead In France

PARIS, May 30.—(A. P.)—Memorial day in France will be celebrated today in an unusual fashion due to the presence of the gold star mother's delegation and a party of New York state war veterans scheduled to arrive tonight on board the liner Leviathan.

From Thiacourt cemetery, in the St. Mihiel sector, to Bony cemetery in Flanders, all American graves were decorated with Old Glory and the French tricolor and at each common resting place French and American delegations paid homage to the American dead. Impressive ceremonies were held at Romagne, in the Argonne and at Suresnes cemetery, just outside Paris, where Ambassador Herrick and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, head of the inter-allied war veterans federation spoke.

Major General Jmes G. Gard attended the services at Belleau Wood, where his second division wrote its name in American history.

Officers Of City Mission Re-elected

All officers of the People's City Mission were re-elected Friday evening at an annual meeting of the society in the mission house, 124 South Ninth street. They are:

E. E. Bennett, president; Henry Carter, vice president; Mrs. F. M. Hall, secretary; Lizzie M. Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Daniels, superintendent of Sunday school. Superintendent G. O. Rogers leaves soon for Illinois to take charge of a mission at Rock Island, and he will be succeeded by Fred Daniels of Chicago.

The annual report of the mission showed an unusually healthy condition of the society, in Mr. Bennett's opinion.

The total attendance at mother's and childrens' meeting during the year was 21,105; persons lodged numbered, 6,471; the number of meals given was 1,773; and for 1,683 persons employment was found; 2,721 were given free baths, 3,124 received pieces of clothing; 391 missionary calls were made; and 38 received medical attention.

OMAHA CARFARE TO BE BOOSTED

Rail Commission Will Order Rates to Same Level As Those In Lincoln.

An increase of street car fares in Omaha to the same basis as those in Lincoln will be ordered by the state railway commission in the near future. Notice of this intention was communicated Friday afternoon by Chairman Browne of the commission on the long distance telephone to General Manager R. A. Leussler of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co. and to City Counsellor W. C. Lambert at Omaha.

At present, the cash fare in Omaha is 7 cents and metal tokens are sold at four for 25 cents. The commission may order an advance to 10 cents cash fare and four tokens for 30 cents. Omaha fares for school pupils and for young children are somewhat lower than in Lincoln. The Omaha city authorities will ask that they be left as they now are.

The total increase of revenue which the railway commission thinks the company should have is $300,000 to $350,000 a year. It has invited company officials and members of the Omaha city administration to come to Lincoln for a conference next Thursday on the precise scale of fares to be promulgated.

City officials of Omaha are said to favor the 10-cent cash fare as one means of enlarging the company's income, on the theory that it will come largely out of the pockets of non-residents. Omaha people, they figure, will buy tokens in order to get the cheaper rate. The street railway company, however, is skeptical about boosting the cash fare to a higher point than 8 cents, for fear of driving away a large amount of patronage to the taxicab concerns.

WARDENS SEIZE BIG DRAG NETS

Takes Possession Of Illegal Fishing Paraphernalia Found at Bellevue.

One Snare 400 Feet Long To Be Turned Over to State Hatcheries.

One of the biggest seizures of illegal fishing paraphernalia ever made in Nebraska took place at Bellevue, Sarpy county suburb of Omaha, on Friday, when Deputy State Game Warden W. R. Murray, assisted by Special Deputy Robert Murray of Omaha, found and took possession of the following property:

One large drag net, 400 feet long and 20 feet in depth, and a large hoop net, 4 by 14 feet in size, which belonged to a former local game warden, named Peffner.

A big drag net, 300 feet long and 12 feet deep, and 5 hoop nets, located at the home of a fisherman named Dillon.

A 250-foot trammel net seized near the Missouri river ferry landing at Bellevue. Its ownership is uncertain. Two men in a crowd of 150 that saw the wardens take possession started to object, but when they learned that the two Murrays were state officers they subsided.

All the nets confiscated will be turned over to the state hatcheries for use there. None of them was tagged and the chief game warden's office has no record of permits having been granted to their owners. Under the fish and game laws of Nebraska, such nets may be used by fishermen only in the Missouri river, and then only by permission of the state authorities. Tags are issued in all cases where permission is granted.

Valued at Over $500.

The property seized at Bellevue is estimated to be worth between $500 and $600. All the nets were of good material and in excellent condition. They had recently been used, as was evidenced by the fact that they were drying in the sun when the wardens found them.

Complaints had been received from sportsmen that fish were being removed from these lakes by means of seines, and deputy wardens have been on the lookout there recently.

Altogether this spring about 175 unlawful fishing devices have been captured by agents of the state game and fish bureau, which were either confiscated or destroyed. Besides a considerable number of seines and hoop nets, the officers found numerous traps made of wood, wire and other materials.

Smashes Trap Near Tekamah.

Eighteen such traps were located and destroyed in and around Lake Quineba, near Tekamah, last Monday. A short time ago, a trammel net 250 feet long was seized in the same locality. A 300-foot trammel net was taken at the mouth of Blackbird creek, near Decatur, and the owner paid a heavy fine.

Deputy Warden Murray says that a month ago, while he was taking possession of a 200-foot trammel net and demolishing a trap near Wann, somebody shot at him three times. This is the vicinity where 14-year-old Esther Bloom was accidentally wounded while Murray and other deputy wardens were shooting at some supposed transgressors.

Five regular paid deputies and 250 local men are now assisting in the enforcement of game and fish laws. The bureau expects to put on 14 additional men for regular duty during the summer season, when close watch has to be kept to prevent and punish violations.

Romance of Glendennings Comes To End

NEW YORK, May 30.—(A. P.)—The romance of Mrs. Alicia DuPont Glendenning, 22, heiress to the DuPont millions, and Harold Sanford Glendenning, son of a rural postman, who was a Rhodes scholar when they married, has ended.

The granting of writ of habeas corpus at Bridgeport, Conn., giving Mrs. Glendenning custody of her 2-year-old son was the first intimation to other than intimate friends of a marital disagreement.

When the world war broke out Glendenning left Dartmouth college to work in the DuPont munition factories at Wilmington, Del., where he met Alici DuPont, stepdaughter of Alfred I. E. DuPont. In 1920, after being graduated from Dartmouth Glendenning went to England as a Rhodes scholar in Oxford and on shipboard he again me Miss Duont who was going abroad to study music.

Two years later, June 28, 1923, with the approval of both families they were married at St. Paul's London. After he concluded his course at Oxford, Mr. and Mrs. Glen denning returned to the U. S. and the son was born at Mr. Glendenning's mother's home at Norwalk, Conn.

Report Increases Aircraft Mystery

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(A. P.)—A new mystery was added to the aircraft controversy Friday when it was disclosed in official quarters that a report had been drawn up on the situation saying the $19,000,000 military aircraft appropriation for next year was considered sufficient.

Presumably the report was intended for President Coolidge, but white house officials declined to say anything about it. Secretary Sanders would not disclose whether he knew who prepared the report, or what had been the origin of the investigation.

THE OIL LEASE DECISION.

Judge Paul J. McCormick in the federal court at Los Angeles has entered an order directing the Doheny oil interests to surrender their lease to the naval oil reserve on Elk Hill for cancellation and at the same time he set aside the contract for the construction of oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The public should observe carefully the conclusions which the federal judge reached and the reasons he advanced for setting aside the contract and cancelling the lease:

First, Owing to the "fraud" upon the United States, involved in the payment of $100,000 to Albert F. Fall, then secretary of the interior.

Second, Because ex-President Harding's order transferring discretionary authority in the matter of the oil leases from the navy to the interior department was in excess of his power as president.

Notice of appeal has already been given and the case unquestionably will be taken to the supreme court of the United States for final review and decision.

Observe the language employed by the court in delivering his opinion. Judge McCormick declares that a fraud was perpetrated upon the United States in the leasing of the naval oil reserve to the Doheny interests. If the senatorial committee investigating this transaction ever needed any justification for the methods which it employed, or the findings which it submitted at the conclusion of a long and wearing hearing, it has it in the judicial finding of the court. Senator Walsh and his associates performed a great and lasting service to the people for the untiring zeal which they revealed in bringing the facts to the country's attention. They were berated and abused by men high in official responsibility and the effort was made to discredit the work which they were performing for partisan advantage.

Without considering the material results, although Mr. Doheny frankly admitted during the senatorial inquiry that he expected to make millions out of the lease which the former secretary of the interior had given him, the moral triumph which the people have won cannot be overestimated.

Decent government demanded that the leasing of these naval oil reserves to private interests, under the circumstances which were developed during the testimony brought out in the senatorial hearing, should be nullified. Integrity and honor and fidelity to public trust required that no such precedent should be allowed to stand unchallenged. In all of the years of the republic, there never was a transaction by government officials which called for a rebuke to a larger degree than the action of Fall in turning over public property to one of the greatest oil magnates in this country.

Justice has been vindicated in the decision by Judge McCormick in the federal court of Los Angeles.

The action brought by the government to cancel the Sinclair lease to the Naval reserve in the Teapot Dome field is still under consideration. While the principle involved in that transaction is similar to the issue raised in the leasing of the Elk Hill reserve in some particulars, there was no direct evidence because some of the witnsss greatly desired by the government counsel were spending vacations in other parts of the world. They were wanted to explain the disposition of certain Liberty bonds, which were alleged to have come into Fall's possession.

More important than the mere recovery of these oil tracts is the bearing which this decision will have upon the future conservation policy of America. Had the court found Mr. Doheny entitled to retain the lease which had been granted him, all of the efforts of Roosevelt and Pinchot and others, who fought courageously and powerfully against influential and unscrupulous enemies to preserve the natural resources of this country for the use of the people, would have been undone. The outcome of this case is a matter of deep congratulation.

FEDERAL EXCISE AUTO TAXES.

The appeal addressed to Secretary Mellon of the treasury department by a special committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce merits careful consideration. Ever since the war the automobile has been carrying more than its just share of taxation, and more particularly has the discrimination been marked since congress repealed most of the so-called "nuisance taxes" adopted as an emergency measure.

In their brief to the secretary of the treasury, the automobile men set forth these claims in support of their request for the repeal of the federal motor vehicle excise taxes:

Unfair to tax any one group especially for the purposes of general welfare.

Congress has already recognized the unfairness of war emergency taxes in repealing some of them.

Automobile taxes are taxes upon transportation. Other special taxes on transportation have been removed.

Federal aid road funds are paid because of the general benefit to society, not for the special use of the automotive industry. Federal aid payments have totalled but 47 per cent of federal motor tax collections.

The tax replacements is a tax on misfortune.

The tax is costly and difficult to administer.

There are 17,500,000 automobile owners in America, the committee points out. The federal excise tax is paid by them, since the manufacturer merely passes it along to the ultimate consumer. All cars in recent years have been sold on the basis of a nationally advertised list price, plus war tax. In no one, particular then, with the single possible exception of the income tax, would it be possible to lighten the tax burden of a larger number of people where the full and complete benefits would accrue to them as through the elimination of the federal excise tax.

Even while removing taxes on other so-called luxuries, congress has tenaciously hung to the tax on automobiles because it was an easy way of raising money. The time has come when it should be eliminated.

CHICAGO'S GREAT HOTEL.

At this time when interest in the hotel situation in Lincoln has been aroused by the proposal to build a new million dollar hostelry in this city comes the announcement that Chicago is planning the biggest hotel in the world.

Preliminary plans call for a building with 1,000 rooms. The contract, it is said, will be the largest ever let for a building, which may be interpreted to mean that it is the greatest building ever constructed. The structure will require 450,000 tons of steel, and 18,000 men will be employed in its construction. It will contain an auditorium seating 16,000 people. The towering walls will rise for twenty-six stories above the shores of Lake Michigan.

For the time being Chicago has shelved her zoning ordinance to make room for this monumental structure. It is to be built in the heart of the congested district, where more recently rigid restrictions were placed against skyscrapers of the modern type.

The entire project calls forth such engineering genius, architectural skill and capital expenditure that it may well be calculated to excite the awe of the world. What particular situation in Chicago calls for a building of this description does not appear because the Windy City has been well supplied with hotels of modern construction in recent years. It will be a venture which will catch the eyes of the world.

ANOTHER CONQUEST.

The world's "most successful ambassador," the Prince of Wales, has just demonstrated once more that his charm in pleasing the citizens of various countries and the members of several races was not lost during the recent American trip. His latest conquest has been South Africa, where natives as well as other subjects of the empire had freely predicted he would fail.

Landing at Cape Town he received an ovation from Dutch and British resident alike. Members of the old Boer nationalist faction were included in the swarms that welcomed him.

In the days that followed, he seemed more and more popular and quickly ingratiated himself with nearly all South Africa. Dutchmen, who a few years ago were agitating secession, seemed his warmest friends. And all this was accomplished by the prince with seemingly the slightest of efforts, except that at all times he wore an attitude of friendly concern in the affairs of any man whom he met.

There is something about the ease with which this slight young man gets along with people that makes us wonder if it is so easy after all, and a little "inside information" shows that the supposition is correct. Months ago at the time of the prince's return from America he set himself to the task of learning South Africa. He studied its history and conditions there. He engaged a distinguished South African scholar to help him, and even acquainted himself with the colonial language.

His greatest triumph was scored when he replied in Dutch to a toast at a great banquet. English and Boer guests like leapt to their feet before he had well started and shouted approval.

Even a prince, and seemingly the most naturally charming prince in the world, is unable to do great works—for cementing the rifts of the English empire is great work—without hours of study in subjects that may not be congenial.

"Easy Money."

You often hear the doctor's fees thus referred to when he calls at your home, stays a few minutes with the patient, prescribes and then charges three or four dollars.

It may seem like easy money to the casual observer, but let us see just how "easy" it is.

In the old days the medical student could attain his education inexpensively. He served an apprenticeship under a preceptor and took one or two courses of lectures at a medical college.

At present, he must possess credentials consisting of a high school diploma, two to four year work at an accredited college or university, four years work in a reputable medical school and then one to three years work in an approved hospital. After this he takes the state board examination to see if he is even fit to license for the practice of medicine.

With a very conservative estimate of $1,500 a year, for the cost of his learning, and $1,800 a year which he might have earned if not studying, he has an investment of from $12,000 to $18,000 capital before he even begins earning. Often he has had to borrow a large part of this and is repaying it, with interest, for the first few years of practice.

The up-to-date physician in addition requires equipment of no negligible cost. He must have appropriately furnished offices and office help. Laboratory, chemicals, innumerable delicate instruments, his automobile and other items which easily amount to from $4,000 upward.

There is no other profession so poorly repaid for the time and cost required for proficiency. Nor is there another so misunderstood by those who seek short-cuts and easy-roads. The desire to obtain much for little actuates most of the criticism of doctors.

The span of the average human life has been increased fifteen years within the past seventy years. Diseases, like smallpox, yellow fever and diphtheria, that were formerly scourges of humanity have been almost eradicated. Other advances too numerous to mention, go to make things easier and happier for those who are handicapped in this life.

It has all been achieved at a tremendous expenditure of time, effort and money. So do not kick if you are asked to share your part of the cost.

"How shall man acquire a conscience?" Well, what's the matter with the old plan, "Will you marry me?"

If men can outlaw barbarous war, and keep their pledges in this respect, they can as easily outlaw all war.

"Anybody can acquire a good vocabulary," but only the wise can keep the thing from working too hard.

The only drawback to a ball game is that you can't hear what the frenzied second baseman is saying to the umpire.

Correct this sentence: "Yeah, it's getting thin," he admitted: "but I've never tried any kind of tonic."

Honor American Dead In France

PARIS, May 30.—(A. P.)—Memorial day in France will be celebrated today in an unusual fashion due to the presence of the gold star mother's delegation and a party of New York state war veterans scheduled to arrive tonight on board the liner Leviathan.

From Thiacourt cemetery, in the St. Mihiel sector, to Bony cemetery in Flanders, all American graves were decorated with Old Glory and the French tricolor and at each common resting place French and American delegations paid homage to the American dead. Impressive ceremonies were held at Romagne, in the Argonne and at Suresnes cemetery, just outside Paris, where Ambassador Herrick and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, head of the inter-allied war veterans federation spoke.

Major General Jmes G. Gard attended the services at Belleau Wood, where his second division wrote its name in American history.

Officers Of City Mission Re-elected

All officers of the People's City Mission were re-elected Friday evening at an annual meeting of the society in the mission house, 124 South Ninth street. They are:

E. E. Bennett, president; Henry Carter, vice president; Mrs. F. M. Hall, secretary; Lizzie M. Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Daniels, superintendent of Sunday school. Superintendent G. O. Rogers leaves soon for Illinois to take charge of a mission at Rock Island, and he will be succeeded by Fred Daniels of Chicago.

The annual report of the mission showed an unusually healthy condition of the society, in Mr. Bennett's opinion.

The total attendance at mother's and childrens' meeting during the year was 21,105; persons lodged numbered, 6,471; the number of meals given was 1,773; and for 1,683 persons employment was found; 2,721 were given free baths, 3,124 received pieces of clothing; 391 missionary calls were made; and 38 received medical attention.

OMAHA CARFARE TO BE BOOSTED

Rail Commission Will Order Rates to Same Level As Those In Lincoln.

An increase of street car fares in Omaha to the same basis as those in Lincoln will be ordered by the state railway commission in the near future. Notice of this intention was communicated Friday afternoon by Chairman Browne of the commission on the long distance telephone to General Manager R. A. Leussler of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co. and to City Counsellor W. C. Lambert at Omaha.

At present, the cash fare in Omaha is 7 cents and metal tokens are sold at four for 25 cents. The commission may order an advance to 10 cents cash fare and four tokens for 30 cents. Omaha fares for school pupils and for young children are somewhat lower than in Lincoln. The Omaha city authorities will ask that they be left as they now are.

The total increase of revenue which the railway commission thinks the company should have is $300,000 to $350,000 a year. It has invited company officials and members of the Omaha city administration to come to Lincoln for a conference next Thursday on the precise scale of fares to be promulgated.

City officials of Omaha are said to favor the 10-cent cash fare as one means of enlarging the company's income, on the theory that it will come largely out of the pockets of non-residents. Omaha people, they figure, will buy tokens in order to get the cheaper rate. The street railway company, however, is skeptical about boosting the cash fare to a higher point than 8 cents, for fear of driving away a large amount of patronage to the taxicab concerns.

WARDENS SEIZE BIG DRAG NETS

Takes Possession Of Illegal Fishing Paraphernalia Found at Bellevue.

One Snare 400 Feet Long To Be Turned Over to State Hatcheries.

One of the biggest seizures of illegal fishing paraphernalia ever made in Nebraska took place at Bellevue, Sarpy county suburb of Omaha, on Friday, when Deputy State Game Warden W. R. Murray, assisted by Special Deputy Robert Murray of Omaha, found and took possession of the following property:

One large drag net, 400 feet long and 20 feet in depth, and a large hoop net, 4 by 14 feet in size, which belonged to a former local game warden, named Peffner.

A big drag net, 300 feet long and 12 feet deep, and 5 hoop nets, located at the home of a fisherman named Dillon.

A 250-foot trammel net seized near the Missouri river ferry landing at Bellevue. Its ownership is uncertain. Two men in a crowd of 150 that saw the wardens take possession started to object, but when they learned that the two Murrays were state officers they subsided.

All the nets confiscated will be turned over to the state hatcheries for use there. None of them was tagged and the chief game warden's office has no record of permits having been granted to their owners. Under the fish and game laws of Nebraska, such nets may be used by fishermen only in the Missouri river, and then only by permission of the state authorities. Tags are issued in all cases where permission is granted.

Valued at Over $500.

The property seized at Bellevue is estimated to be worth between $500 and $600. All the nets were of good material and in excellent condition. They had recently been used, as was evidenced by the fact that they were drying in the sun when the wardens found them.

Complaints had been received from sportsmen that fish were being removed from these lakes by means of seines, and deputy wardens have been on the lookout there recently.

Altogether this spring about 175 unlawful fishing devices have been captured by agents of the state game and fish bureau, which were either confiscated or destroyed. Besides a considerable number of seines and hoop nets, the officers found numerous traps made of wood, wire and other materials.

Smashes Trap Near Tekamah.

Eighteen such traps were located and destroyed in and around Lake Quineba, near Tekamah, last Monday. A short time ago, a trammel net 250 feet long was seized in the same locality. A 300-foot trammel net was taken at the mouth of Blackbird creek, near Decatur, and the owner paid a heavy fine.

Deputy Warden Murray says that a month ago, while he was taking possession of a 200-foot trammel net and demolishing a trap near Wann, somebody shot at him three times. This is the vicinity where 14-year-old Esther Bloom was accidentally wounded while Murray and other deputy wardens were shooting at some supposed transgressors.

Five regular paid deputies and 250 local men are now assisting in the enforcement of game and fish laws. The bureau expects to put on 14 additional men for regular duty during the summer season, when close watch has to be kept to prevent and punish violations.

DENVER, Colo.—After having decorated the grave of a relative at Riverside cemetery Friday, Mrs. Anna Alkire, 50 years old, was probably fatally hurt and her daughter, Josephine, 23, was instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a Burlington railroad train.

Romance of Glendennings Comes To End

NEW YORK, May 30.—(A. P.)—The romance of Mrs. Alicia DuPont Glendenning, 22, heiress to the DuPont millions, and Harold Sanford Glendenning, son of a rural postman, who was a Rhodes scholar when they married, has ended.

The granting of writ of habeas corpus at Bridgeport, Conn., giving Mrs. Glendenning custody of her 2-year-old son was the first intimation to other than intimate friends of a marital disagreement.

When the world war broke out Glendenning left Dartmouth college to work in the DuPont munition factories at Wilmington, Del., where he met Alici DuPont, stepdaughter of Alfred I. E. DuPont. In 1920, after being graduated from Dartmouth Glendenning went to England as a Rhodes scholar in Oxford and on shipboard he again me Miss Duont who was going abroad to study music.

Two years later, June 28, 1923, with the approval of both families they were married at St. Paul's London. After he concluded his course at Oxford, Mr. and Mrs. Glen denning returned to the U. S. and the son was born at Mr. Glendenning's mother's home at Norwalk, Conn.

Report Increases Aircraft Mystery

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(A. P.)—A new mystery was added to the aircraft controversy Friday when it was disclosed in official quarters that a report had been drawn up on the situation saying the $19,000,000 military aircraft appropriation for next year was considered sufficient.

Presumably the report was intended for President Coolidge, but white house officials declined to say anything about it. Secretary Sanders would not disclose whether he knew who prepared the report, or what had been the origin of the investigation.

BANK CLEARINGS

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK May 30—Duns today says

In spite of a widespread and severe frost, which is quite exceptional after the middle of May business sentiment shows further improvement this week and evidences of some additional activity continues to appear Operation in several of the primary markets show additional interest on the part of consumers and this has resulted in some new business. There is more inquiry for iron although the market for this important product is far from satisfactory as to prices. Substantial business is noted in some of the heavy lines of steel The improved condition of packer hides is reflected in the favorable advance in prices this week The shoe business is exceptionally dull and this is reflected in the leather market The tone of the primary textile markets is rather better but further curtailment of production in the cotton industry is being urged and is quite generally prevalent in woolens. The silk industry continues very active and knit goods operators are well employed

The Earth's Flat.
50,000 See a Hanging.
Never Enough Cars.
They Kill Girl Babies.

By Arthur Brisbane.

The forces of intellect are rallying against the Darwinian theory the dreadful idea that there may be truth in the doctrine of evolution

William Jennings Bryan says that if evolution is true then Christianity cant be true

A more important witness is Mr Voliva of Zion City He says evolution is impious and he is a real believer He says the earth is flat not around and it doesnt go around the sun

Bryan is understood to be coming round to the theory that the earth is round in spite of the fact that the Bible described four angels standing on the four corners of the earth

Following the bomb explosion in the great cathedral of Sofia the Bulgarian conservatives hang three condemned men with a crowd of 50 000 looking on A young girl student Kosto Abadjieffyho convicted of actually lighting the bomb will be hanged later

The triple hanging took place in an old Jewish cemetery Bulgaria lacks an official hangman so three Gypsys were hired to do the hanging

Do those who believe in capital punishment also believe that the human race is made better and crime diminished when a howling crowd of 50 000 watches the hanging of three men?

The country it appears was not quite saturated with motor cars The month of April surpassed all April records turning out 430 436 cars

The best part of the news is that dealers have orders for more than they can fill Every time a man buys an automobile he joins the ranks of civilized beings making himself independent of the law of gravitation the original and the worst slavery

Knud Rasmussen kind hearted Arctic explorer wants to save the Esquimaux race rapidly dying out Is the race worth saving? It is quite certain that this earth would be considerably better off if certain races would politely vanish without violence

Races worth keeping usually indicate the fact by preserving themselves Esquimaux and other extreme northerners are survivors of inferior peoples driven into the ice lands by higher races They are harmless enough eating blubber up there but would hardly be worth bringing back The fact that the Esquimaux insist on killing off their girl babies indicates that they themselves think their race hardly worth keeping

The French chamber is excited because one radical communist deputy said the soldiers of France should fraternize with their foes the Riffs instead of killing them

Practical experience would end that nonsense The communist gentleman should go and fraternize with the Riffs on his own account

When he came back if he ever did come back it would be with several knives sticking in him He would probably say to his deputy associates Go on with the war I was wrong about those Riffs

Study and admire James Carew British shipping clerk who this year won the Calcutta sweepstakes on the Derby worth $365 000 by spending a trifling sum

Before the race tempted by sure profit he sold one quarter of his ticket for $10 000 and later another quarter for $15 000 He won only half but even that was $182 500

A wise man this Britisher Just before the race was run to spare his nerves went home and went to bed I lighted my pipe closed my eyes and smoked

When he opened his eyes he was $182 500 richer

That is a thoughtful Britisher He doesnt howl and yell entreating his horse to come in first He lights his pipe closes his eye and waits

And he says I will give part of my money to the girls orphanage at Great Crosby invest the rest carefully and live on it all the days of my life

What could be wiser or more typically British than that?

He will invest part for comfortable living here part for salvation and eternal comfort hereafter

President Coolidge it is said will cut $25 000 000 a year from the cost of the United States army—a good idea Soldiers marching over the ground in future war from the air will be about as useful as so many rabbits when eagles attack them

The presidents economy will be twice as valuable if he will arrange to spend the $25 000 000 cut from the army on the building of more flying machines

The worst extravagance in the world is to be unprepared We found that out in the last war when we spent billions for ships that were never used for flying machines that never flew

CADETS STAGE ANNUAL PARADE

Shirt-tail Procession By University Boys An Orderly Affair.

The universitys spring cyclone struck the business district of Lincoln about 8 oclock Friday evening when a thousand howling cadets celebrated the completion of a years military training by staging their annual shirt tail parade

There were costumes of every conceivable nature and some which words are quite inadequate to describe Plain and painted pajamas thin and torn teddy bears gay and ragged ballet skirts scenic B V D suits and night gowns wrestling tights basketball suits and bathing suits—all strove desperately to cover the painted bodies of the jubilant boys

Traffic was at a complete standstill while the long line ran snake fashion down the street circling back and forth over pavement and walks daubing paint on the faces of the spectators cheering and singing Dealers were waiting for them with candy bars cigars punch and sundry other bribes

At both the Rialto and the Lyric the show was stopped while the whole gang marched across the stage singing and cheering At the Liberty the show continued while the boys marched down the side past the bald headed row then out by the side entrance The orchestra strove in vain to make itself heard above the din and the dancers went through their steps with smiles that were not quite as artificial as is sometimes the case Finally the band struck up Hail Hail the gangs all here and they sang and clapped until the last stragglers were gone

At Eleventh street The Salvation Army band played There Is No Place Like Nebraska and then marched serenely down the street while red faced demons danced on all sides Street cars and automobiles were commandeered at Tenth street and the majority of the merry makers went to Capitol Beach

Free rides were given on the jack rabbit the merry go round the caterpillar and the aerial swing and Dinty Moores place opened up by special request The dance floor was crowded and strange as it may seem the men had as much grease paint on their faces as the girls

The students split up into bunches at the Beach and returned to Lincoln to howl and tear around various neighborhoods until sheer weariness forced them to let others sleep in peace

As shirt tail parades go this was quite an orderly affair

BLAZE DAMAGES UNI BUILDING

Dr George E Condra head of the department and Mrs Edith M Berglund were working in the room when the blaze started in a pile of picture film Dr Condra was painfully burned about the hands and face but Mrs Berglund escaped without injury The cause of the fire is uncertain

The blaze spread quickly to the other film in the room but did not damage the originals since they are kept in fire proof cabinets

The records and furniture in the office of the military department were burned and the annual competitive drill of the university R O T C regiment was halted for about an hour while officers and students attempted to rescue the burning records

It is thought that the damage will not exceed $5 000 The building one of the oldest on the campus was erected in 1888 It is a three story brick structure with a wooden interior In it are housed the activities of the soil conservation and survey department and the military department

COOLIDGE IN PLEA FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

way to disregard of law and laxity of living he continued

The police force which is administered on the assumption that the violation of some laws may be ignored has started toward demoralization The community which approves such administration is making dangerous concessions There is no use disguising the fact that as a nation our attitude toward the prevention and punishment of crime needs more serious attention x x x The conclusion is inescapable that laxity of administration reacts upon public opinion causing cynicism and loss of confidence in both law and its enforcement and therefore in its observance The failure of local government has a demoralizing effect in every direction

Course Well Charted

What America needs is to hold to its ancient and well charted course

Our country was conceived in the theory of local self government It has been dedicated by long practice to that wise and beneficent policy It is the foundation principle of our system or liberty It makes the largest promise to the freedom and development of the individual Its preservation is worth all the effort and all the sacrifice that it may cost

But before we attempt to set ourselves up as exponents of universal reform it would be wise to remember that progress is of slow growth and also to remember that moderation patience forbearance and charity are virtues in their own right The only action which can be effective in the long run is that which helps others to help themselves Before we assume too great responsibilites in the governing of others it would be part of wisdom very completely to discharge our responsibilities for governing ourselves

Much To Do At Home

A large amount of work has to be done at home before we can start in on the neighbors and very considerable duties have to be performed in America before we undertake the direction of the rest of the world But we must at all times do the best we can for ourselves without forgetting others and the best we can for our own country without forgetting other nations

Discussing the complaint which he said is heard to a lesser extent than at the time of the Civil war that the federal government usurps functions properly belonging to the states the president declared that despite the claim that this is a land of equal opportunity equality suffers often because of the divergencies between the laws of different states

Markets

GRAIN MARKETS CLOSED.

All American grain markets are closed today because of Memorial day.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 20.

Prime listed bonds in the government, railroad, industrial and public utility groups were active and strong this week, and the volume of transactions was slightly above the average of the year to date.

The market was devoid of unsettling features such as the 9 point drop in Polihs government bonds in the preceding week.

Low money rates and signs of ease in the long term money market over the next few months was an important stimulus to bond buying.

Domestic war bonds sold at top prices for the year to date, while foreign government issues were somewhat irregular.

WINNIPEG MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 30.—(A.P.)—Sinking precipitously throughout today's session, wheat prices declined 9c on the extreme dip, May slumping to $1.82¾. With the United States markets closed and an acute lack of foreign demand, trading was extremely dull. The new crop futures held relatively firm.

Following the mid-session break, the market recovered appreciably, May closing out at $1.88⅝, down 3½c from Friday's final price. Interest virtually was confined to the passing month which fluctuated violently over a range of 6½c. July and October maintained a steady tone, the former closed ⅜c lower at $1.78½ and the deferred future at $1.51.

Coarse grains were inactive with a resultant downward tendency in prices. The closing follows:

RYE—May, $1.16½; July, $1.18¾; October, $1.13.

BARLEY—May, 88⅞c; July, 90½c; October, 78½c.

ENTIRE NATION PAYS HONOR TO ITS DEFENDERS

tombstones dotting the surrounding hillsides now colorful with flower and bunting.

Associations of veterans of the various conflicts arranged to hold services for their own dead before thep residential party arrived at the cemetery. These included eulogies over the graves of army and navy nurses in the women's section of the burial grounds, and the decoration of monuments throughout the capital to the memory of outstanding figures in the country's history.

A huge anchor formed of poppies was prepared aboard the U. S. S. Sylph for lowering into the Potomac river as additional tribute to the navy's dead, lost on the high seas. Memorial exercises also were arranged aboard the U. S. S. Grampus. Servants of the nation now resting in other cemeteries throughout the city were remembered by relatives and descendants who joined with veterans societies in paying respect.

Members of the American legion in the district were assembled for a march through Arlington cemetery to the tomb of the unknown, there to place a great wreath. The legionaires then were ready to join in the general services in the amphitheater, held under the auspices of the allied veterans organizations and led by the Grand Army of the Republic.

Ceremony In New York.

NEW YORK, May 30.—(I. N. S.)—Parades of veterans of the Civil and foreign wars and special memorial services began today as New York paid honor to the nation's dead.

As a feature of the ceremonies, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will lay a giant poppy wreath at the foot of the monument. A squadron of airplanes from Mitchell Field will accompany the marchers.

Churches throughout the city held special memorial day services.

35,000 In Parade.

CHICAGO, May 30. — More than 35,000 veterans of America's wars from the Civil war through to the world war, marched in Chicago's memorial parade today. Perfect weather greeted the marchers. Cemeteries and hospitals were scenes of pilgrimages during the morning by relatives, friends and organizations.

Dawes Reviews Parade.

EVANSTON, Ill., May 30.—Vice President Dawes was the outstanding figure in Evanston's celebration of Memorial day.

In the lake front park of his estate he reviewed a parade of Boy Scouts and was greeted with cheers as he smiled down on the proud stepping youngsters.

After the parade, General Dawes pinned medals of honor on two of the scouts. They were David Goss and William O'Keefe, who won their medals for heroism on the Evanston bathing beaches.

BANK CLEARINGS

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 30.—Dun's today says:

In spite of a widespread and severe frost, which is quite exceptional after the middle of May, business sentiment shows further improvement this week and evidences of some additional activity continues to appear. Operations in several of the primary markets show additional interest on the part of consumers and this has resulted in some new business. There is more inquiry for pig iron, although the market for this important product is far from satisfactory as to prices. Substantial business is noted in some of the heavy lines of steel. The improved condition of packer hides is reflected in the favorable advance in prices this week. The shoe business is exceptionally dull and this is reflected in the leather market. The tone of the primary textile markets is rather better but further curtailment of production in the cotton industry is being urged and is quite generally prevalent in woolens. The silk industry continues very active and knit goods operators are well employed.

Weekly bank clearings, $8,350,659,000.

The Earth's Flat.
50,000 See a Hanging.
Never Enough Cars.
They Kill Girl Babies.

By Arthur Brisbane.

The forces of intellect are rallying against the Darwinian theory, the dreadful idea that there may be truth in the doctrine of evolution.

William Jennings Bryan says that if evolution is true, then Christianity can't be true.

A more important witness is Mr. Voliva of Zion City. He says evolution is impious, and he is a real believer. He says the earth is flat, not around, and it doesn't go around the sun.

Bryan is understood to be coming round to the theory that the earth is round in spite of the fact that the Bible described four angels standing on the four corners of the earth.

Following the bomb explosion in the great cathedral of Sofia, the Bulgarian conservatives hang three condemned men with a crowd of 50,000 looking on. A young girl student, Kosto Abadjieffyho, convicted of actually lighting the bomb, will be hanged later.

The triple hanging took place in an old Jewish cemetery. Bulgaria lacks an official hangman, so three Gypsys were hired to do the hanging.

Do those who believe in capital punishment also believe that the human race is made better and crime diminished when a howling crowd of 50,000 watches the hanging of three men?

The country, it appears, was not quite saturated with motor cars. The month of April surpassed all April records, turning out 430,436 cars.

The best part of the news is that dealers have orders for more than they can fill. Every time a man buys an automobile he joins the ranks of civilized beings, making himself independent of the law of gravitation, the original and the worst slavery.

Knud Rasmussen, kind-hearted Arctic explorer, wants to save the Esquimaux race, rapidly dying out. Is the race worth saving? It is quite certain that this earth would be considerably better off if certain races would politely vanish without violence.

Races worth keeping usually indicate the fact by preserving themselves. Esquimaux and other extreme northerners are survivors of inferior peoples driven into the ice lands by higher races. They are harmless enough eating blubber up there, but would hardly be worth bringing back. The fact that the Esquimaux insist on killing off their girl babies indicates that they themselves think their race hardly worth keeping.

The French chamber is excited because one radical communist deputy said the soldiers of France should fraternize with their foes, the Riffs, instead of killing them.

Practical experience would end that nonsense. The communist gentleman should go and fraternize with the Riffs on his own account.

When he came back, if he ever did come back, it would be with several knives sticking in him. He would probably say to his deputy associates, "Go on with the war. I was wrong about those Riffs.

Study and admire James Carew, British shipping clerk, who this year won the Calcutta sweepstakes, on the Derby, worth $365,000, by spending a trifling sum.

Before the race, tempted by sure profit, he sold one-quarter of his ticket for $10,000, and later another quarter for $15,000. He won only half, but even that was $182,500.

A wise man, this Britisher. Just before the race was run, to spare his nerves, went home and went to bed. "I lighted my pipe, closed my eyes and smoked."

When he opened his eyes he was $182,500 richer.

That is a thoughtful Britisher. He doesn't howl and yell, entreating his horse to come in first. He lights his pipe, closes his eye and waits.

And he says, "I will give part of my money to the girls' orphanage at Great Crosby, invest the rest carefully and live on it all the days of my life."

What could be wiser or more typically British than that?

He will invest part for comfortable living here, part for salvation and eternal comfort hereafter.

President Coolidge, it is said, will cut $25,000,000 a year from the cost of the United States army—a good idea. Soldiers marching over the ground in future war from the air will be about as useful as so many rabbits when eagles attack them.

The president's economy will be twice as valuable if he will arrange to spend the $25,000,000 cut from the army on the building of more flying machines.

The worst extravagance in the world is to be unprepared. We found that out in the last war, when we spent billions for ships that were never used, for flying machines that never flew.

CADETS STAGE ANNUAL PARADE

Shirt-tail Procession By University Boys An Orderly Affair.

The university's spring cyclone struck the business district of Lincoln about 8 o'clock Friday evening when a thousand howling cadets celebrated the completion of a year's military training by staging their annual shirt tail parade.

There were costumes of every conceivable nature and some which words are quite inadequate to describe. Plain and painted pajamas, thin and torn teddy-bears, gay and ragged ballet skirts, scenic B. V. D. suits and night gowns, wrestling tights, basketball suits, and bathing suits—all strove desperately to cover the painted bodies of the jubilant boys.

Traffic was at a complete stand still while the long line ran snake-fashion down the street, circling back and forth over pavement and walks, daubing paint on the faces of the spectators, cheering and singing. Dealers were waiting for them with candy bars, cigars, punch and sundry other bribes.

At both the Rialto and the Lyric the show was stopped while the whole gang marched across the stage singing and cheering. At the Liberty the show continued while the boys marched down the side, past the bald-headed row then out by the side entrance. The orchestra strove in vain to make itself heard above the din and the dancers went through their steps with smiles that were not quite as artificial as is sometimes the case. Finally the band struck up "Hail, Hail the gang's all here," and they sang and clapped until the last stragglers were gone.

At Eleventh street, The Salvation Army band played "There Is No Place Like Nebraska" and then marched serenely down the street while red-faced demons danced on all sides. Street cars and automobiles were commandeered at Tenth street and the majority of the merry-makers went to Capitol Beach.

Free rides were given on the jack rabbit, the merry-go-round, the caterpillar and the aerial swing, and Dinty Moore's place opened up by special request. The dance floor was crowded and, strange as it may seem, the men had as much grease paint on their faces as the girls.

The students split up into bunches at the Beach and returned to Lincoln to howl and tear around various neighborhoods until sheer weariness forced them to let others sleep in peace.

As shirt tail parades go, this was quite an orderly affair.

Dr. Condra Suffers Burns When Picture Film Bursts Into Flames.

Damage estimated at several thousand dollars was done Friday afternoon when fire in the photograph room of the soil conservation and survey department of the university gutted the room and swept up the outside of the building, damaging some of the other rooms slightly. The building, Nebraska hall, was not heavily damaged.

Dr. George E. Condra, head of the department, and Mrs. Edith M. Berglund were working in the room when the blaze started in a pile of picture film. Dr. Condra was painfully burned about the hands and face, but Mrs. Berglund escaped without injury. The cause of the fire is uncertain.

The blaze spread quickly to the other film in the room, but did not damage the originals, since they are kept in fire-proof cabinets.

The records and furniture in the office of the military department were burned, and the annual competitive drill of the university R. O. T. C. regiment was halted for about an hour while officers and students attempted to rescue the burning records.

It is thought that the damage will not exceed $5,000. The building, one of the oldest on the campus, was erected in 1888. It is a three-story brick structure, with a wooden interior. In it are housed the activities of the soil conservation and survey department and the military department.

One fireman, J. P. Reisch, engine house No. 2, received slight injuries from flying glass.

Competitive Drill Is Won By Company E

The annual competitive drill of the University of Nebraska Reserve Officers Training Corps was held Friday afternoon on the university field. Company E, commanded by Captain Harold Gish of Lincoln was awarded first place in company close order drill and W. H. Cronk of Company B won individual honors.

K. W. Miller of Company C placed second in the Individual contest and L. P. Mathews of company H was third. Second honors in tthe company competition went to company G, commanded by Captain Glen Dunkle, and Company C won third honors.

The drill was staged under the direction of Major Sidney Erickson who has been commandant at the university for the past four years and who will return to the regular army soon. He will be succeeded by Lieutenant Colonel J. J. Jewett, who comes to Lincoln from Fort Leavenworth. Captain Morris H. Forbes and Lieutenant Max Oliver will also be transferred to other points.

Judges of the event were: Col. C. C. Johnson, in charge of company inspection; Major Jesse G. Faes, company manual of arms; Lieutenant Colonel C. J. Frankforter, company close order and individual work; Captain Kiger M. Still, head of judges of platoon order drill.

The program included a regimental review, a special drill by the Pershing Rifles, the presentation of sponsors, and the awarding of ribbons.

WOODS CO. LANDS LARGE CONTRACT

To Build 13-Mile Seawall In Mississippi At Cost Of $2,000,000.

GULFPORT, Miss., May 30—Construction of a thirteen-mile sea wall to protect exposed sections of the beach front and boulevard between Biloxi and Pass Christian by the Woods Brothers Construction Co., of Lincoln, Neb., at a cost of $1,992,175.49 was recommended here Friday by the Harrison county board of supervisors in joint session. Formal contract for the sea wall will be let by the supervisors at its June meeting.

The Lincoln company was notified Friday afternoon that its bid on the sea wall had been accepted. Building of a mile-wall for the Illinois Centra railroad last year is thought to have been a factor in the award for Woods Brothers, general satisfaction having been expressed by members of the Harrison county road projection commission, who stated their preference for the local firm.

There were twenty other bidders including concerns in all sections of the United States.

Construction of the great sea wall is a feature of the extensive improvement campaign inaugurated near Gulfport, which has become noted as a residence section for wealthy persons who have built magnificent homes near the beach The Illinois Central, the city of Gulfport, the county and state have united in a series of projects, bonds having been voted to defray construction costs.

The new wall will be concrete supported by huge piles driven into the sand and will be built in steps. The entire sea wall of which the 13-mile structure is to be the first section, will be built in six sections

IDENTIFY BODY OF SLAYER'S VICTIM

Brooklyn Detective Says Murdered Girl Is His Sister.

NEW YORK, Mya 30.—(A. P.)—Vigorous search continued today for the slayer of Miss Florence Kane who was identified by Detective James A. Kane of Brooklyn, as his sister when in the course of duty he had to view the body.

The body was found by a milk man yesterday in a vacant lot near the girl's home. An autopsy revealed that the assailant forced his fingers down her throat in an effort to choke her screams. He battered, bound and gagged her and tore her clothes to ribbons. The body was lying face downward. On the bare back was a crucifix inscribed with the words: "Father forgive them." In some weeds nearby was found a religious medal, but the young woman's rosary and crucifix chain are missing.

Detective Kane was one of those sent to investigate. His face turned ashen as he looked at the battered form.

"I'm afraid this is near home," he said. He looked at the body again.

"It's my sister," he said slowly.

Detective Captain McCloskey laid a gentle arm on Kane's shoulder. "You may go home — off duty," he said.

"No," replied Kane. "I'm on this case."

Miss Kane, leaving eight women friends after attending a musical comedy, was hurrying home to her widowed mother when attacked. She was 30 years old.

WORK BEGINS ON GUERNSEY DAM

Town Overcrowded With Excess Men Seeking Employment.

(Special to The Star.)

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., May 30.—Work of building the big Guernsey dam has begun, and will be pushed to rapid completion. A railroad spur has been built to the dam site, the electric power transmission line is completed, and the steam shovel is at work on excavation. A camp is being erected to house the workmen and the buildings will remain for operators after the dam is completed.

It is expected that the work will require about eighteen months to complete. In the mean time, Guernsey is suffering with an over supply of men seeking work, as many times the number who can be employed, have arrived there, expecting to get jobs as a result, petty thieving and begging is proving annoying and expensive to the citizens, and drastic measures are being contemplated to get rid of the undesirables.

Vanderbilt Warns Auto Tourists Who Go To Mississippi

VICKBURG, Miss., May 30. — (A. P.) — Cornelius Vanderbilt, whose baggage was searched after he was halted by officers in Meridian, Miss., yesterday suspected of being a "rum runner" will warn tourists "what to expect at Meridian." Through the medium of the American Automobile association, a statement credited to him, made public here today, says.

Mr. Vanderbilt who reached here last night from Jackson, where he called to see Governor Henry L. Whitefield, was reported incensed over the ransacking of his personal effects. He is touring from Florida to Los Angeles, accompanied by John Brodie, director of various newspaper interests which he controls.

way to disregard of law and laxity of living," he continued:

"The police force which is administered on the assumption that the violation of some laws may be ignored has started toward demoralization. The community which approves such administration is making dangerous concessions. There is no use disguising the fact that as a nation our attitude toward the prevention and punishment of the crime needs more serious attention. x x x The conclusion is inescapable that laxity of administration reacts upon public opinion, causing cynicism and loss of confidence in both law and its enforcement and therefore in its observance. The failure of local government has a demoralizing effect in every direction.

Course Well Charted.

"What America needs is to hold to its ancient and well-charted course.

"Our country was conceived in the theory of local self-government. It has been dedicated by long practice to that wise and beneficent policy. It is the foundation principle of our system or liberty. It makes the largest promise to the freedom and development of the individual. Its preservation is worth all the effort and all the sacrifice that it may cost.

"But before we attempt to set ourselves up as exponents of universal reform. it would be wise to remember that progress is of slow growth, and also to remember that moderation, patience, forbearance, and charity are virtues in their own right. The only action which can be effective in the long run is that which helps others to help themselves. Before we assume too great responsibilites in the governing of others, it would be part of wisdom very completely to discharge our responsibilities for governing ourselves.

Much To Do At Home.

"A large amount of work has to be done at home before we can start in on the neighbors, and very considerable duties have to be performed in America before we undertake the direction of the rest of the world. But we must at all times do the best we can for ourselves without forgetting others, and the best we can for our own country without forgetting other nations."

Discussing the complaint which he said is heard to a lesser extent than at the time of the Civil war that the federal government usurps functions properly belonging to the states, the president declared that despite the claim that this is a land of equal opportunity "equality suffers often because of the divergencies between the laws of different states."

CONDITION OF BOY STRUCK BY CAR CRITICAL

was to have received a degree from the university next Wednesday.

Driver Reports to Police.

Bevridge reported at police headquarters shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday morning, as soon as he knew that the boy was seriously injured, he said. In explaining why he had failed to stop immediately following the accident, he said that he had not realized that the boy was seriously injured, and that he had started to police headquarters once, but decided to wait until morning.

He was questioned by Deputy County Attorney Max G. Towle at noon Saturday, and will talk with county officials again Monday, when Lincoln's condition is more certain. No action will be taken in the meantime, Towle said.

Bevridge was driving east into Lincoln, he said, together with his wife and Mrs. H. C. Holer, 905 Y street, University Place. They were returning from Lexington, Neb., where they attended the funeral of a brother of the women.

"I wasn't driving fast and I was having a hard time to keep out of the way of those other cars coming toward me, with bright lights," said Bevridge.

"I didn't see the boy until I hit him. Then it seemed like the fender had just brushed him and knocked him down.

"The women were excited and said that I should stop, so I told them that we would stop at the oil station and telephone to town. I didn't think then the boy was hurt.

"I called Holer and asked him to come for the women and we waited there. I saw no ambulance or police patrol come out to the scene of the accident, so I concluded that the boy wasn't hurt after all."

Bevridge did not know of the seriousness of the boy's injuries until Saturday noon when informed at police headquarters.

Lincoln was brought to the city by W. E. Mason, 904 Sumner street, John Buntemeyer, 1715 South Tenth street, and N. W. Hesier, 947 Sumner street. The accident occurred about 9 p. m.

Swallows Tiepin When He Sneezes

(Special to The Star.)

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., May 30.—Evin Smith, farm hand, is the victim of a peculiar accident. Smith, while holding his tiepin in his mouth and arranging his necktie, sneezed and the pin slipped down his throat. He was sent to the University hospital at Omaha for treatment.

CHICAGO.—Completion of the transfer of five old line grain companies' properties valued at $16,407,000 to farmer and producer stockholders of the grain marketing company at the close of the year's contract late in July, is said to depend largely upon the purchases of stock by farmers within the next two months.

TRIBUTE TO DEAD PAID BY WAR SOCIETIES

forgotten," it said, "while people all over our broad land honor the patriotic dead."

The three staccato volleys of an eight man firing squad rang out, and taps was sounded.

W. R. C. Service.

Then came the Woman's Relief Corps service, and that for the sons of veterans auxiliary, the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Daughters of Veterans, the Spanish-American War veterans auxiliary, and the American Legion auxiliary. Each placed flowers or a wreath at the base of the monument where flew the flag at half staff.

The silence of the cemetery was broken once more as two thousand people who had watched and heard these services filed away among the flower strewn mounds to the lake.

Mrs. Emma E. Susong, a past president of the Daughters of Veterans, took charge there. At the bridge head to the north of the little lake, the Spanish-American war men took their stand behind a group of flower-bearing school children. Standing on the top of the bridge itself and holding an armful of flowers, while a racing wind swept back her long hair, her white robes, and the American flags at either side, Miss Clea Harris impersonated the goddess of liberty.

More songs, a reading, taps once more and a salute. Flowers fluttered down to the water in memory of the sailor dead.

Public services at the City auditorium were scheduled for 2.30 o'cloc in the afternoon. This was to include, the singing of America, invocation by Rev. A. A. Brooks, an orchestra selection, reading of the Gettysburg address by Bess Gearhart Morrison, reading of General Logan's orders by Frank P. Corrick, an address by O. S. Spillman, and songs by the G. A. R. quartet.

Schulte Men Must Deliver In Sprints Or Bengals Will Win Meet.

HUSKERS' CHANCES BETTER

NORMAN Okla, May 30 — Warm weather and a fast track greeted the Missouri Valley athletes when they gathered here today for the eighteenth annual conference championships

Nebraska's chances of copping both relays the mile and half mile seemed improved this morning when it was announced that Scharnweber of Grinnell who pulled a muscle in the Friday preliminaries would probably not compete today Fisher of Kansas also is on the sick list He failed to qualify for the century and did not start in the furlong preliminaries

BY GREGG McBRIDE

NORMAN Okla May 30—The University of Nebraska Cornhuskers just closing a successful four year reign as king in the Missouri Valley track realm may be toppled from the throne when the eighteenth anual Valley conference track and field championships get under way on Owen field this afternoon

The Missouri Tigers and Oklahoma Sooners comprise the pair of squads which seriously threatens Nebraska's supremacy on the cinder path and in the field The Oklahoma challenge is more or less of a paper threat seemingly so because the Sooners scattered fifteen qualifiers through the Friday events But the Missouri men ay the appearance of having the real goods The Tiges lead in the list of qualifiers by placing sixteen men and have apparently cinched firsts in the shot put discus and broad jump with an excellent chance of copping first honors in the high jump and pole vault

Tigers Lead In Prelims

The ten Missouri Valley institutions qualified as follows Missouri 16 Oklahoma 15 Nebraska 14 Grinnell 8 Kansas university 6 Washington 5 Drake 4 Ames 2 Kansas Aggies 1 Oklahoma Aggies 1

The Friday preliminaries included every event except the mile run two mile run and half mile and mile relays

Ross of Nebraska stands an excellent chance of scoring well to the front in the mile grind while the Huskers should cop one and possibly both baton passing events

Coach Henry F Schulte this morning was pessimistic over Nebraska's chances to repeat

It looks like Missouri and we do not seem to have even a chance he declared

Up to Nebraska Sprinters

The Cornhusker boys however have a different version If the sprinters come through in the relays and Ross delivers in the mile the Nebraskans believe they have a chance—an oportunity much similar to the situation in the Missouri Valley indoor meet of last winter when Nebraska snatched a victory from defeat

Missouri's basic strength rests with a Richerson and Lancaster Richerson heaved the shot 47 feet 3 inches to a new Missouri valley record and hurled the discus 134 feet 9 6 10 inches Lancaster is leading the broad jumpers with a leap of 24 feet 4 1 2 inches a new Valley record and is favored to win the pole vault Grinnell athletes however crowded close in each event Morgan Taylor's leap of 24 feet 6 1 2 inches was disallowed because he passed the takeoff board Rinefort is a close second in the discus Either may gain the lead in the finals

Track Results Will Decide.

Nebraska's only hopes rest on the track Locke coasted to easy victories in the dash preliminaries with Hein winning each of his heats and expected to finish second in at least one of the sprints The Wilber boy beat Bond of Missouri and Fisher of Kansas in the century and outstepped Lindsey of Oklahoma and Rooney of Kansas in the furlong Avard Mandery who finished fifth in his heat of the hundred qualified by placing second ahead of Scharnweber of Grinnell in the two twenty

Nebraska ran into hard luck in the hurdles Peese lost out in the highs and Daily was nosed out by Keeble of a qualifying place in the lows when he knocked down the last hurdle Weir won the fast heat of the high hurdles but failed to place in the lows He missed his step coming up to the final hurdle and dropped from an easy second to a poor fourth

Crites and Beckord

Crites and Beckord came through in the quarter mile Crites won his heat with ease and Beckord came from fifth position on the back stretch to qualify easily in the third heat Sherrich failed to place in the first heat Houdershelt was the only Nebraska half miler to place He was in a fast heat but was a strong third the trio jogging in at the finish Lewis was fourth in a large field of the second heat

Wirsig and Rhodes are among the seven qualifiers in the pole vault Gleason lost out at 12 feet the qualifying mark Lancaster of Missouri and Potts of Oklahoma are scheduled for an interesting argument with the two Cornhuskers in this event

Rhodes Third In Jump

Rhodes placed third in the broad jump preliminaries with a leap of 23 feet 5 1 4 inches the best he has done this season Kriemelmeyer is left in the shot put His heave of 41 feet 3 inches was the third best of the afternoon Molzen could not get over 40 while Popisil and Hansa couldn't do better than 11? feet in the discus

Rhodes leap of 23 feet 5 1 4 inches established a new Nebraska varsity record The former mark was 23 feet made by Werner nearly ten years ago

Almy threw the javelin 150 feet, three feet under the qualifying mark

A crowd of several hundred watched the preliminaries about equally divided between the field and grand stand

Oklahoma showed only passive enthusiasm in the prelims but a big crowd is expected for the Saturday finals

"Buzzer" Used To Tip Philly Team to Signs

BY AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher N Y Giants)

The most interesting cases of sign stealing were originated by the old Philadelphia ball club in the good old days that were One of their cleverest stunts was running an underground wire from the club house in center field to the third base coaching box connecting with an electric buzzer about half an inch under the ground The buzzer was manipulated with a button in the clubhouse and caused a slight vibration under the foot of the third base coach

After grabbing the opposing catcher's signs with the aid of field glasses the lookout in center field used the buzzer to telegraph his signs to the coach who in turn passed them on to the batter

All went well for a long time when one day the lookout by mistake shot the juice to the buzzer when the visitors were at bat and their coach had unconsciously placed his foot over the buzzer He jumped like he was shot There's a frog under the ground here he said and began digging until he uncovered the buzzer and exposed the trick to the multitudes

RAIN JINX HALTS NEW YORK SCRAP

McTigue-Berlenbach Combat Goes Over Until Tonight Because of Storm.

Betting Sharps On Broadway Still Stringing Along With Challenger.

FIRST OF RICKARD'S CAREER

NEW YORK, May 30— The weather failed Tex Rickard for the first time in 19 years and as a result last night's bout between Mike McTigue, the champion and Paul Berlenbach for the light heavyweight title is on the card for tonight at the Yankee stadium Yesterday's rain made the stadium too wet even for ardent fight fans

This is the first time in Rickard's promotion career—since the Gans Nelson bout in Goldfield Nev, in 1906 that he has had to put off a show

BY GEORGE BARRY

NEW YORK May 30—Apparently repentant at having broken Tex Rickard's twenty year streak of luck in the staging of outdoor fights the weather man turned on the faucet of sparkling cool weather today for the McTigue Berlenbach fight tonight which is to decide the light heavyweight championship of the world

The forecasters promised there would be no repetition of the thunder showers which caused Rickard reluctantly to postpone the milk fund fights from last night It was the first time in almost twenty years that Lucky Tex had ever had to call off an outdoor show

The postponement caused no shift in the slight margin of favoritism that the experts have bestowed upon Berlenbach to lift the title Odds of 6 to 5 and 10 to 9 were to be had along Broadway today with the challenger on the heavy end and his backers offering money freely

Even Up On the Scales

The weights at which the men will enter the ring proved somewhat of a surprise They weighed in late yesterday at 170½ each indicating the fineness that both men have got down to for the fifteen round go The lightheavy limit is 175 pounds and it had been thought particularly that Mike would go in at the limit As it is with no weighing in today Mike probably will enter the ring with a pound or so advantage

Tonight's card holds a peculiar interest for the experts in that not two but three of the topnotch light heavies figure in the bouts In the semi final Jack Delaney meets Tony Marullo in ten rounds

Delaney to Meet Winner

Delaney is the only man who has put the bee on Punch em Paul and it was announced today that McTigue and Berlenbach have both signified their willingness to meet Delaney in event of victory

Berlenbach's friends have always claimed that it was a lucky punch by Delaney that floored him

The postponement bids fair to increase if anything the size of the crowd at Yankee stadium tonight Ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd

HOBBLES PUT ON VALLEY COACHES

Faculty Delegates Put Ban On Scheme of Bidding For Hi Athletes.

BY GREGG McBRIDE

OKLAHOMA CITY Okla May 30—The practice of competitive bidding for high school athletes was dealt a blow by faculty delegates of Missouri Valley institutions in session here last night

Valley faculty men complained that various members were offering inducements to high school athlete of prominence and a rule was incorporated prohibiting anyone connected with the coaching staff of a member institution from doing any illegitimate recruiting

This rule as explained would prohibit any Valley coach from making a direct solicitation of any student but would not interfere where the high school man had first sought information

The question of a Missouri Valley commissioner of athletics did not come up for consideration but sentiment among faculty men was said to be unfavorable

Round Robin May Lose Out

The round robin basketball arrangement was favored by the athletic directors after a heated discussion Indications today were that the faculty delegates might kill the scheme addition of the Oklahoma Aggies to the 1926 slate excluding possibility of any games with outside institutions

The question of minor sports is up for consideration this morning But four schools have golf team in the meet while six schools are represented in tennis

Action of the conference in prohibiting athletic proselyting by directors or members of coaching staff is construed as a special rap at Missouri university and Kansas Agricultural colleges

Field Enlarged At Doane College

CRETE Neb May 30—Doane college will have a new athletic field next year Over a foot of earth is being removed from the old field and dirt carried to extend the south end nearly 40 yards An elevator grader with many teams has been busy the past week and the work is nearly completed Crete citizens are behind the movement for an enlarged field and City Engineer H A Davis has been supervising the work

A larger athletic field has been needed for a long time at Doane and now a full sized field will be had in the heart of the campus and a cinder track will be extended around the limits of the football field In addition to the regular oval for the track one end is extended for a straight away to be used for the dashes and 120 yard hurdles It is planned to put the surface of the entire football field in fine condition and have it seeded down to grass which should get a good growth during the summer months

With Leon Duray Pete DePaolo and Harry Hartz in the lead by virtue of their speed in the ten mile qualification tests the drivers three in a row made the preliminary lap in perfect alignment the warm sun glinting from their freshly painted mounts as approximately 150 000 spectators the largest crowd in the history of the speedway looked on

Duray with a qualification speed of 113 19 miles an hour held the post position

MIKE MAPS OUT PLAN OF BATTLE

McTigue Contemplates Joke On Critics By Knocking Out Berlenbach.

Menke Strings Along With Mike; Picks Him to Win Tonight's Fight.

BY FRANK G MENKE

(Copyright 1925 by King Features Syndicate Inc)

Mike McTigue probably will knock out Paul Berlenbach when they clash in the Milk Fund show in New York tonight If he doesn t do that he seems certain to give to Berlenbach the most artistic lacing the excommunicated wrestler ever has received

Just now the wagering is around 2 to 1 that Berlenbach will win Those odds are based on the reasoning of some that Mike is old and that he started slipping long ago It's true that Mike is a bit ancient as champions go—but Mike is a bit different than most fistic kings

He has lived sanely cleanly He is a man devoted to his family He does not drink nor smoke He never had a wild habit He has lived much out of doors always has strived for physical fitness—and as a result he has achieved the age of 32 with the zip and stamina and the power that are usually associates with 25 or 26

Knows Berlenbach's Stuff

And as for Berlenbach knocking Mike askew from his crown well—harken to Mike

I've watched that Berlinbach in action four or five times I'll admit he can hurt when he hits—but he's no killing puncher He must hit a man about 20 solid smashes before he can end the show as a knockout winner

I may be getting a bit old and I'm not as spry perhaps as I was ten years ago But if that slow moving awkward shifting Berlenbach can hit me 20 solid blows—or even ten solid blows—I'll go home and tell my kiddies that their dad never was a fighter

For several years I haven't been setting any worlds ablaze with my fighting exhibitions But there was a very good reason And that was that I broke a bone in my right hand when I fought Battling Siki it never mended and I had to do almost all of my battling since then with my left hand

Injured Hand Good as Ever

Now its different Dr Wilfred G Fralick of New York discovered what was wrong after a dozen other doctors failed He removed a huge splinter of bone The hand since then has knitted perfectly and is so solid now that I could hit a concrete wall and not feel any hurt

And so I have a quaint little feeling that when I take on this Berlach fellow I'll surprise a few natives Sure I am going into that ring to knock him out—and that's exactly what I'll do If the sporting world thinks I'm a powder puff hitter it needs only to look over my record before I broke my right hand and rendered it useless

Record of 53 Knockouts

In my ring career I have fought 113 battles Before I fought Siki I had mingled in about 107 contests And in those 107 I scored 53 knockouts—an average of one kayo for each two fights If that's powder puff hitting I'm a Swede

I realize that Berlenbach is a hard hitter And a hard hitter always is dangerous That's why I'm going right out after Berlenbach with the tap of the gong and draw him into making some of his murderous leads When he does that I'm going to try to show him that hitting dubs slower than himself and hitting your Uncle Michael McTigue are entirely different matters

Maps Out Plan of Battle

My plan is to make Berlenbach swing himself dizzy and when he has done that I guess I'll wander into his particular neighborhood take him at his nice cute chin and then try out the old right hand When I do—well this much I'll say

I may lose my title some day but it won t be to Paul Berlenbach tonight

Mat Athletes In Snarl Over Title Dispute

CHICAGO May 30—Who's who in the wrestling world may be definitely decided before night

Two matches each billed for the heavyweight championship of the world are on the boards in the middle west today

At Michigan City Wayne Munn and Ed Strangler Lewis will meet while at St Louis Stanislaus Zbyszko and Joe Stecher are to clash

The Michigan City fracas will be in the nature of a grudge match Munn claimed the title after his go with Lewis at Kansas City Lewis claimed Munn threw him out of the ring and should have been disqualified Munn won the first and third falls in that match

Zbyszko Won From Munn

Recently at Philadelphia Zbyszko bested Munn and claimed the championship When the promoters of the Michigan City affair billed the Munn Lewis meet as a championship match the Pole sought court interference to prevent the match being styled as a title go The court threw out his plea

The Pole was matched with Stecher for the champion the match also being billed for the title

Each of the four wrestlers has trained to the hour Lewis is confident that he will turn the tables on Munn while the latter avers he will prove to the world that he is Lewis superior

Stecher is brimfull of confidence that he will again gain the top of the wrestling ladder while Zbyszko declares he will retain his newly won laurels before the sun sets this evening

The French boxing federation has adopted a rule that boxers under 18 years of age must confine their ring activities to six round bouts and 10 days must elapse between each bout a boxer engages in The French federation also uses the scale of weights from fly weights to light heavyweights The new regulations were taken from the rules of the New York state athletic commission

BLISS BOBS UP TO LEAD THE HITTERS

Former Nebraska Leaguer Is High Man In Western Loop Batting.

Bliss of St Joseph a new face in the Western league picture and Luebbe second string catcher for the Omaha Burch Rods are tied for first place in the race for individual hitting laurels each having a mark of 422 Bliss former Nebraska State leaguer at Fairbury has been in more games than Luebbe and rightfully is the leagues leading batsman Wilder Omaha's first string backstopper is topping the regular performers with an average of 41 while Hock of Oklahoma City ranks next with 412

Shaner and Cooper are Lincoln's only hitters in the 300 circle with marks of 345 and 328 respectively Brucker and Flaskamper rate between 290 and 300

Demons lead in Batting

Des Moines is not represented by any particular flock of heavy hitters near the top but it is close to last week's average in team hitting with 330 The Hawkeyes present some imposing figures in the statistics It has run its total bases to 440 through some terrific hitting all along the line To its 38 homeruns it can tack on 95 two baggers and 28 triples Oklahoma City has slightly increased its percentage and the same goes for Omaha and Denver Lincoln last in the rating has dropped several points

The league as a whole has shown some unwonted stepping on the base paths The burglaries have been distributed more evenly than in most any other league Denver has shown the bests printing ability with 52 pilfered sacks This is far in the lead of any other team Gingiardi of the Denver tribe holds the league lead with ten but he is far from having the race to himself Hock King of Omaha Brausen of Des Moines and Corrigan of St Joe are right on his heels

Griffin Top Man in Homers

There has been a fair sprinkling of four base drives all over the league with Griffin of Des Moines leading with 11 Payne of Wichita is next with nine

Among the week's feats has been the intermediate hitting of McNally of Oklahoma City The hard hitting second sacker has connected six times for two baggers being out in front with double knocks with 21 Osborn of Omaha is nearest to him in this particular department

St Joseph Lincoln and Denver have shown improvement in defensive tactics The Saints lead with an increased percentage while Lincoln has come up from sixth to third place in the rating Wichita has become weaker in this department When it comes to errors Des Moines best in slugging horns in with 5 miscues which makes it a bad last

Hodges of Denver still has a clean record among the pitchers He has won five straight and has figured in twelve games Davenport of St Joe has won seven but lost two and Hall of Denver has registered nine victories but dropped three games Cooper and Pillette are making pace for the Lincoln pitching staff

Bengals Menace to Huskers in Conference Meet

TIGES THREATEN NEBRASKA CROWN

Missouri Menaces Huskers' Supremacy In Missouri Valley Track.

Schulte Men Must Deliver In Sprints Or Bengals Will Win Meet.

HUSKERS' CHANCES BETTER.

NORMAN, Okla., May 30. — Warm weather and a fast track greeted the Missouri Valley athletes when they gathered here today for the eighteenth annual conference championships.

Nebraska's chances of copping both relays, the mile and half-mile, seemed improved this morning when it was announced that Scharnweber of Grinnell, who pulled a muscle in the Friday preliminaries, would probably not compete today. Fisher of Kansas also is on the sick list. He failed to qualify for the century and did not start in the furlong preliminaries.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

NORMAN, Okla., May 30.—The University of Nebraska Cornhuskers, just closing a successful four-year reign as king in the Missouri Valley track realm, may be toppled from the throne when the eighteenth anual Valley conference track and field championships get under way on Owen field this afternoon.

The Missouri Tigers and Oklahoma Sooners comprise the pair of squads which seriously threatens Nebraska's supremacy on the cinder path and in the field. The Oklahoma challenge is more or less of a "paper" threat, seemingly so because the Sooners scattered fifteen qualifiers through the Friday events. But the Missouri men have the appearance of having the real goods. The Tigers lead in the list of qualifiers by placing sixteen men and have apparently cinched firsts in the shot put, discus and broad jump, with an excellent chance of copping first honors in the high jump and pole vault.

Tigers Lead In Prelims.

The ten Missouri Valley institutions qualified as follows: Missouri, 16; Oklahoma, 15; Nebraska, 14; Grinnell, 8; Kansas university, 6; Washington, 5; Drake, 4; Ames, 2; Kansas Aggies, 1; Oklahoma Aggies, 1.

The Friday preliminaries included every event except the mile run, two-mile run and half-mile and mile relays.

Ross of Nebraska stands an excellent chance of scoring well to the front in the mile grind, while the Huskers should cop one and possibly both baton passing events.

Coach Henry F. Schulte this morning was pessimistic over Nebraska's chances to repeat.

"It looks like Missouri and we do not seem to have even a chance," he declared.

Up to Nebraska Sprinters.

The Cornhusker boys, however, have a different version. If the sprinters come through in the relays and Ross delivers in the mile, the Nebraskans believe they have a chance—an oportunity much similar to the situation in the Missouri Valley indoor meet of last winter, when Nebraska snatched a victory from defeat.

Missouri's basic strength rests with a Richerson and Lancaster. Richerson heaved the shot 47 feet 3 inches to a new Missouri valley record and hurled the discus 134 feet 9-6-10 inches. Lancaster is leading the broad jumpers with a leap of 24 feet 4 1-2 inches, a new Valley record, and is favored to win the pole vault. Grinnell athletes, however, crowded close in each event. Morgan Taylor's leap of 24 feet 6 1-2 inches was disallowed because he passed the takeoff board. Rinefort is a close second in the discus. Either may gain the lead in the finals.

Track Results Will Decide.

Nebraska's only hopes rest on the track. Locke coasted to easy victories in the dash preliminaries, with Hein winning each of his heats and expected to finish second in at least one of the sprints. The Wilber boy beat Bond of Missouri and Fisher of Kansas in the century and outstepped Lindsey of Oklahoma and Rooney of Kansas in the furlong. Avard Mandery, who finished fifth in his heat of the hundred qualified by placing second ahead of Scharnweber of Grinnell in the two-twenty.

Nebraska ran into hard luck in the hurdles. Reese lost out in the highs and Daily was nosed out by Keeble of a qualifying place in the lows when he knocked down the last hurdle. Weir won the fast heat of the high hurdles, but failed to place in the lows. He missed his step coming up to the final hurdle and dropped from an easy second to a poor fourth.

Crites and Beckord.

Crites and Beckord came through in the quarter-mile. Crites won his heat with ease and Beckord came from fifth position on the back stretch to qualify easily in the third heat. Sherrich failed to place in the first heat. Houdershelt was the only Nebraska half-miler to place. He was in a fast heat, but was a strong third, the trio jogging in at the finish. Lewis was fourth in a large field of the second heat.

Wirsig and Rhodes are among the seven qualifiers in the pole vault. Gleason lost out at 12 feet, the qualifying mark. Lancaster of Missouri and Potts of Oklahoma are scheduled for an interesting argument with the two Cornhuskers in this event.

Rhodes Third In Jump.

Rhodes placed third in the broad jump preliminaries with a leap of 23 feet 5 1-4 inches, the best he has done this season. Kriemelmeyer is left in the shot put. His heave of 41 feet 3 inchs was the third best of the afternoon. Molzen could not get over 40, while Popisil and Hamsa couldn't do better than 117 feet in the discus.

Rhodes' leap of 23 feet 5 1-4 inches established a new Nebraska varsity record. The former mark was 23 feet, made by Werner nearly ten years ago.

Almy threw the javelin 150 feet, three feet under the qualifying mark.

A crowd of sveral hundred watched the preliminaries, about equally divided between the field and grand stand.

Oklahoma showed only passive enthusiasm in the prelims, but a big crowd is expected for the Saturday finals.

"Buzzer" Used To Tip Philly Team to Signs

BY AL DEMAREE.

(Former Pitcher N. Y. Giants.)

The most interesting cases of sign stealing were originated by the old Philadelphia ball club in the good old days that were. One of their cleverest stunts was running an underground wire from the clubhouse in center field to the third base coaching box, connecting with an electric buzzer about half an inch under the ground. The buzzer was manipulated with a button in the clubholuse, and caused a slight vibration under the foot of the third base coach.

After grabbing the opposing catcher's signs, with the aid of field glasses, the lookout in center field used the buzzer to telegraph his signs to the coach, who in turn passed them on to the batter.

All went well for a long time, when one day, the lookout, by mistake, shot the juice to the buzzer when the visitors were at bat, and their coach had unconsciously placed his foot over the buzzer. He jumped like he was shot. "There's a frog under the ground here," he said, and began digging, until he uncovered the buzzer and exposed the trick to the multitudes.

RAIN JINX HALTS NEW YORK SCRAP

McTigue-Berlenbach Combat Goes Over Until Tonight Because of Storm.

Betting Sharps On Broadway Still Stringing Along With Challenger.

FIRST OF RICKARD'S CAREER.

NEW YORK, May 30.— The weather failed Tex Rickard for the first time in 19 years and as a result last night's bout between Mike McTigue, the champion, and Paul Berlenbach for the light-heavyweight title is on the card for tonight at the Yankee stadium. Yesterday's rain made the stadium too wet even for ardent fight fans.

This is the first time in Rickard's promotion career—since the Gans-Nelson bout in Goldfield, Nev., in 1906, that he has had to put off a show.

BY GEORGE BARRY.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Apparently repentant at having broken Tex Rickard's twenty-year streak of luck in the staging of outdoor fights, the weather man turned on the faucet of sparkling, cool weather today for the McTigue-Berlenbach fight tonight which is to decide the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

The forecasters promised there would be no repetition of the thunder showers which caused Rickard reluctantly to postpone the milk fund fights from last night. It was the firs ime in almost twenty years that "Lucky Tex" had ever had to call off an outdoor show.

The postponement caused no shift in the slight margin of favoritism that the experts have bestowed upon Berlenbach to lift the title. Odds of 6 to 5 and 10 to 9 were to be had along Broadway today, with the challenger on the heavy end and his backers offering money freely.

Even Up On the Scales.

The weights at which the men will enter the ring proved somewhat of a surprise. They weighed in late yesterday at 170½ each, indicating the fineness that both men have got down to for the fifteen-round go. The lightheavy limit is 175p ounds and it had been thought particularly that Mike would go in at the limit. As it is, with no weighing in today. Mike probably will enter the ring with a pound or so advantage.

Tonight's card holds a peculiar interest for the experts in that not two but three of the topnotch lightheavies figure in the bouts. In the semi-final Jack Delaney meets Tony Marullo in ten rounds.

Delaney to Meet Winner.

Delaney is the only man who has put the bee on "Punch 'em Paul" and it was announced today that McTigue and Berlenbach have both signified their willingness to meet Delaney in event of victory.

Berlenbach's friends have always claimed that it was a lucky punch by Delaney that floored him.

The postponement bids fair to increase, if anything, the size of the crowd at Yankee stadium tonight. Ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd.

Yankee Error Gives Game to Connie's Crew

(Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Wanninger's error in the eighth inning paved the way for two Philadelphia runs that broke a 4 to 4 deadlock and gave the Athletics a victory over the Yankees yesterday, 6 to 4. The clubs were scheduled to play a doubleheader, but rain cause the postponement of the second game. Score by innings: R H E

Indians Bumped by Browns.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—The Browns made it four out of five over the Cleveland Indians by winning yesterday, 7 to 4, in the final game of the series. George Sisler smacked three hits, including a triple, in the fourth inning which scored two men. Score by innings: R H E

Tigers Outslug White Sox.

CHICAGO, May 30.—Detroit defeated Chicago, 13 to 9, in a slugging match yesterday. Cobb's strategy almost cost him the services of one of his pitchers, when he removed Dauss in favor of a pinch-hitter and then sent Johnson to the mound. Johnson was hit hard and before he retired the side in the ninth inning was knocked out by a line drive off Falk's bat. He was removed to a hospital. Barrett's home run with two on base was a feature. Score by innings: R H E

Champions Trim Red Sox.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Turning in five double plays, the Senators' infield provided air-tight support behind steady pitching by Mogridge and the world champions took the first game of the series with the Boston Red Sox yesterday, 7 to 3. Boston made a belated rally in the ninth to score two runs, but Mogridge had enough in reserve to shut off their last bid. Score by innings: R H E

Boss of Links Here For Visit

Larry P. Arnold of Los Angeles, owner of the Lincoln franchise in the Western league, has come to Lincoln with his family for months stay in the camp of the Links. The head of the local club arrived Friday, accompanied by his wife and two children, and has established the family at 825 South Thirty-fourth street, planning to be in Lincoln during the entire month of June.

The boss of the Links was arranging today to drive to Omaha for the Sunday doubleheader between the Links and the Burch Rods and admitted today that he probably would accompany the Lincoln club on its next southern trip, scheduled to start June 4, at Tulsa.

Arnold and Manager Josh Clarke still are hot on the trail of another experienced pitcher. Their plans provide for the acquisition of a southpaw.

Outfielder Jim Sweeney has been formally released by the Links to the Springfield, Ill., club of the Three-I league. Efforts by Secretary Moon of the local club to place Sweeney in a class A league failed to get the desired results and the player must report to Manager Jackson at Springfield or stand suspended. Any action toward disciplining the player will be taken by the Springfield club.

HOBBLES PUT ON VALLEY COACHES

Faculty Delegates Put Ban On Scheme of Bidding For Hi Athletes.

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 30.—The practice of competitive bidding for high school athletes was dealt a blow by faculty delegates of Missouri Valley institutions, in session here last night.

Valley faculty men complained that various members were offering inducements to high school athletes of prominence and a rule was incorporated prohibiting anyone connected with the coaching staff of a member institution from doing any illegitimate recruiting.

This rule, as explained, would prohibit any Valley coach from making a direct solicitation of any student, but would not interfere where the high school man had first sought information.

The question of a Missouri Valley commissioner of athletics did not come up for consideration, but sentiment among faculty men was said to be unfavorable.

Round Robin May Lose Out.

The "round robin" basketball arrangement was favored by the athletic directors, after a heated discussion. Indications today were that the faculty delegates might kill the scheme, addition of the Oklahoma Aggies to the 1926 slate excluding possibility of any games with outside institutions.

The question of minor sports is up for consideration this morning But four schools have golf teams in the meet, while six schools are represented in tennis.

Action of the conference in prohibiting athletic proselyting by directors or members of coaching staff is construed as a special rap at Missouri university and Kansas Agricultural colleges.

Reds Win Three In String From Bears

OMAHA, Neb., May 30.—Omaha made it three in a row from Denver by trouncing the Bears yesterday 14 to 9. Hall, Denver's pitching ace, was greeted with a shower of hits in the first inning, the Burch Rods clouting six hits, including two home runs, for a smear of seven tallies. Freeman finished and was effective and the third inning. The score:

At Aurora, Ill. — Charlie Rosenberg, bantamweight champion, defeated Herbie Schaeffer, Chicago, ten rounds; Frank Hanney, former Indiana football star, knocked out "Wild Dan" O'Connell, negro heavyweight, second round.

LINKS GET BACK AT DES MOINES

Clarke Crew Takes Revenge In Form of 6-3 Victory Over the Demons.

Pillette Hurls Brilliantly and Links Cluster Their Blows.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 30.—The Links, after two defeats, came right back at the Demons yesterday and trimmed the home athletes, 6 to 3, in a tight combat featured by Ted Pillette's effective pitching during the six final frames. The Demons pounded Pillette for one run in the first and two additional tallies in the third, after which the Pacific coast twirler tightened the screws, holding the Demons to four scattered blows in six innings and shutting them out. The Links fielded smartly back of Pillette, executing three double plays, while the Demons stumbled to the extent of three errors.

Lefty Sellers, former Wichita hurler and Coast leaguer, was Pillette's opponent on the mound. Sellers had it on the Links of 1924, but it was different yesterday. Sellers blanked the Links in the first, but in the second they broke loose with two markers. Beck and Haley were safe on fielding blunders by Knaupp and Rader, following which Maderas and Pillette singled, putting Beck and Haley over the platter.

Shaner's Deadly Bat.

The Links stepped on the gas in the third, when Purdy hit for two bases and Flaskamper singled the run home. In the fifth, Shaner doubled and Beck singled for another run, while in the seventh the Clarke crew clinched victory by scoring two runs. Flaskamper started the inning with a walk and Shaner socked for three sacks, scoring Flaskamper. Beck's single counted Shaner's run.

Shaner, with a single, double and triple, and Beck, with two timely singles, annexed the hitting honors for the Links. In the field, Flaskamper accepted nine chances and Maderas handled eleven chances—both without a miss.

Dick Moudy is scheduled to hurl for the Links in Saturday's encounter, the last of the series, while Manager Mathes is expected to nominate Moon, a southpaw, for mound service. Friday's score:

Field Enlarged At Doane College

CRETE, Neb., May 30.—Doane college will have a new athletic field next year. Over a foot of earth is being removed from the old field and dirt carried to extend the south end nearly 40 yards. An elevator graer, with many teams, has been busy the past week and the work is nearly completed. Crete citizens are behind the movement for an enlarged field and City Engineer H. A. Davis has been supervising the work.

A larger athletic field has been needed for a long time at Doane and now a full-sized field will be had in the heart of the campus and a cinder track will be extended aroun the limits of the football field. In addition to the regular oval for the track, one end is extended for a straight-away to be used for the dashes and 120-yard hurdles. It is planned to put the surface of the entire football field in fine condition and have it seeded down to grass, which should get a good growth during the summer months.

Speed Demons Set Fast Pace In Gas Classic

DE PAOLO RETAINS LEAD.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—DePaolo made the first 25 miles in 14:24.09 for an average speed of 104.16. At that distance, Cooper was second, Hartz third, Duray fourth and Dave Lewis, driving a Junior Eight special, fifth.

The position of the leaders at the fifty-mile mark were:

DePaolo, Cooper, Hartz, Lewis, Duray, Shafer Hepburn and Ellingboe.

The average speed for the distance was nearly five miles an hour faster than last year's record time of 98.89.

Time for first fifty miles was 28 minutes 48.57 seconds an average of 104.13 miles an hour.

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis, May 30.—Twenty-two speed demons, the super-chargers on their perfectly tuned motors screaming, flashed over the starting line at the speedway at 10:03 o'clock today, inaugurating the thirteenth annual 500-mile motor race, the automobile racing classic of the world.

The take-off came after the entrants had been paced one lap around the two and one-half mile track at 60 miles an hour by Eddie Rickenbacker.

With Leon Duray, Pete DePaolo and Harry Hartz in the lead by virtue of their speed in the ten-mile qualification tests, the drivers, three in a row, made the preliminary lap in perfect alignment, the warm sun glinting from their freshly painted mounts as approximately 150,000 spectators, the largest crowd in the history of the speedway, looked on.

Duray, with a qualification speed of 113.19 miles an hour, held the post position.

DePaolo Off In Lead.

At the start of the preliminary lap, DePaolo lost his choice first line position temporarily by virtue of his motor stalling, but he had made it up before the cars went over the line for the official start.

At the end of the first lap, DePaolo was leading, Duray second and Cooper third. The time for the first lap for DePaolo was 1:26:65, a speed of 104 miles an hour.

In the second lap, the three leaders sped by in the same order, with the rest of the field spread out over a half mile.

Frank Elliott, driving a Miller special, went into the pit on the first lap.

Two Cars Forced In Pit.

M. C. Jones, driving the Skelly special in place of H. J. Skelly, ruled out of the race because of a defective heart, joined him in the second lap.

Cooper passed Duray and went into second position near the ten-mile mark. The time for the first ten miles was 5:35.05.

DePaolo continued driving with reckless disregard for the turns and at the ninth lap had increased his lead to half a mile.

Larrabee Trims Omaha Boxer In Bout at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Ia., May 30.—Frankie Larrabee, Lincoln bantam boxer, gave Young Burns, Omaha boy, a neat lacing in an eight-rolnd bout on a Friday night fight card here. Larrabee setting the pace in practically every round and easily won the referee's decision.

Bat Strayer Lincoln lightweight, was substituted at the last minute for Eddie Debeau and outboxed Kid Ray, of Wayne, Neb., for six rounds Strayer was in sight of a decision, but lostthe verdict by accidentally delivering what the referee said was a low blow in the sixth stanza. Strayer conceded six rounds to Ray.

In the final eight-round rumpus of the program, Mike Rozgall of South Omaha decisioned Si Sandage, Sioux City welterweight.

The Norfolk Legion post will sponsor a Fourth of July program of 36 rounds of fighting and Mike Dale, Grand Island welter, has been signed to mix with Al Van Ryan of St. Paul in the ten-round main event. Strayer and Ray have been scheduled to clash in another ten-rounder.

MIKE MAPS OUT PLAN OF BATTLE

McTigue Contemplates Joke On Critics By Knocking Out Berlenbach.

Menke Strings Along With Mike; Picks Him to Win Tonight's Fight.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Copyright 1925 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Mike McTigue probably will knock out Paul Berlenbach when they clash in the Milk Fund show in New York tonight. If he doesn't do that, he seems certain to give to Berlenbach the most artistic lacing the excommunicated wrestler ever has received.

Just now the wagering is around 2 to 1 that Berlenbach will win Those odds are based on the reasoning of some that Mike is old and that he started slipping long ago It's true that Mike is a bit ancient, as champions go—but Mike is a bit different than most fistic kings.

He has lived sanely, cleanly. He is a man devoted to his family. He does not drink nor smoke. He never had a wild habit. He has lived much out of doors, always has strived for physical fitness—and, as a result, he has achieved the age of 32 with the zip and stamina and the power that are usually associates with 25 or 26.

Knows Berlenbach's Stuff.

And as for Berlenbach knocking Mike askew from his crown, well—harken to Mike:

"I've watched that Berlinbach in action four or five times. I'll admit he can hurt when he hits—but he's no killing puncher. He must hit a man about 20 solid smashes before he can end the show as a knockout winner.

"I may be getting a bit old, and I'm not as spry perhaps as I was ten years ago. But if that slow-moving, awkward shifting Berlenbach can hit me 20 solid blows—or even ten solid blows—I'll go home and tell my kiddies that their dad never was a fighter.

"For several years I haven't been setting any worlds ablaze with my fighting exhibitions. But there was a very good reason. And that was that I broke a bone in my right hand when I fought Battling Siki, it never mended and I had to do almost all of my battling since then with my left hand.

Injured Hand Good as Ever.

"Now it's different. Dr. Wilfred G. Fralick of New York discovered what was wrong after a dozen other doctors failed. He removed a huge splinter of bone. The hand since then has knitted perfectly and is so solid now that I could hit a concrete wall and not feel any hurt.

"And so I have a quaint little feeling that when I take on this Berlach fellow I'll surprise a few natives. Sure! I am going into that ring to knock him out—and that's exactly what I'll do. If the sporting world thinks I'm a powder puff hitter it needs only to look over my record before I broke my right hand and rendered it useless.

Record of 53 Knockouts.

"In my ring career I have fought 113 battles. Before I fought Siki I had mingled in about 107 contests. And in those 107 I scored 53 knockouts—an average of one kayo for each two fights. It that's powder puff hitting I'm a Swede.

"I realize that Berlenbach is a hard hitter. And a hard hitter always is dangerous. That's why I'm going right out after Berlenbach with the tap of the gong and draw him into making some of his 'murderous leads.' When he does that I'm going to try to show him that hitting dubs slower than himself and hitting your Uncle Michael McTigue are entirely different matters.

Maps Out Plan of Battle.

"My plan is to make Berlenbach swing himself dizzy and, when he has done that, I guess I'll wander into his particular neighborhood, take aim at his nice cute chin and then try out the old right hand. When I do—well, this much I'll say:

"I may lose my title some day, but it won't be to Paul Berlenbach tonight."

Mat Athletes In Snarl Over Title Dispute

CHICAGO, May 30.—Who's who in the wrestling world may be definitely decided berore night.

Two matches, each billed for the heavyweight championship of the world, are on the boards in the middle west today.

At Michigan City, Wayne Munn and Ed "Strangler" Lewis will meet, while at St. Louis, Sanislaus Zbyszko and Joe Stecher are to clash.

The Michigan City fracas will be in the nature of a grudge match. Munn claimed the title after his go with Lewis at Kansas City. Lewis claimed Munn threw him out of the ring and should have been disqualified. Munn won the first and third falls in that match.

Zbyszko Won From Munn.

Recently at Philadelphia, Zbyszko bested Munn and claimed the championship. When the promoters of the Michigan City affair billed the Munn-Lewis meet as a championship match, the Pole sought court interference to prevent the match being styled as a title go. The court threw out his plea.

The Pole was matched with Stecher, former champion, the match also being billed for the title.

Each of the four wrestlers has trained to the hour. Lewis is confident that he will turn the tables on Munn, while the latter avers he will prove to the world that he is Lewis' superior.

Stecher is brimfull of confidence that he will again gain the top of the wrestling ladder, while Zbyszko declares he will retain his newly won laurels before the sun sets this evening.

The French boxing federation has adopted a rule that boxers under 18 years of age must confine their ring activities to six-round bouts, and 10 days must elapse between each bout a boxer engages in. The French federation also uses the scale of weights, from fly-weights to light-heavyweights. The new regulations were taken from the rules of the New York state athletic commission.

Landis Turns Down Cozy Dolan's Plea

CHICAGO, May 30. — Commissioner Landis yesterday blanked the hopes of Cozy Dolan, former Giant coach, by refusing to consider reinstating him in organized baseball.

BLISS BOBS UP TO LEAD THE HITTERS

Former Nebraska Leaguer Is High Man In Western Loop Batting.

Bliss of St. Joseph, a new face in the Western league picture, and Luebbe, second-string catcher for the Omaha Burch Rods, are tied for first place in the race for individual hitting laurels, each having a mark of .422. Bliss, former Nebraska State leaguer at Fairbury, has been in omer games than Luebbe and rightfully is thel eague's leading batsman. Wilder, Omaha's first-string backstopper, is topping the regular performers with an average of .417, while Hock of Oklahoma City ranks next with .412.

Shaner and Cooper are Lincoln's only hitters in the .300 circle with marks of .345 and .328 respectively. Brucker and Flaskamper rate between .290 and .300.

Demons lead in Batting.

Des Moines is not represented by any particular flock of heavy hitters near the top, but it is close to last week's average in team hitting with .330. The Hawkeyes present some imposing figures in the statistics. It has run its total bases to 740 through some terrific hitting all along the line. To its 38 homeruns it can tack on 95 two-baggers and 28 triples. Oklahoma City has slightly increased its percentage and the same goes for Omaha and Denver. Lincoln, last in the rating, has dropped several points.

The league as a whole has shown some unwonted stepping on the base paths. The burglaries have been distributed more evenly than in most any other league. Denver has shown the bests printing ability with 52 pilfered sacks. This is far in the lead of any other team. Ginglardi of the Denver tribe holds the league lead with ten, but he is far from having the race to himself. Hock, King of Omaha, Brausen of Des Moines and Corrigan of St. Joe are right on his heels.

Griffin Top Man in Homers.

There has been a fair sprinkling of four-base drives all over the league, with Griffin of Des Moines leading with 11. Payne of Wichita is next with nine.

Among the week's feats has been the intermediate hitting of McNally of Oklahoma City. The hard hitting second-sacker has connected six times for two-1baggers, being out in front with double knocks with 21. Osborn of Omaha is nearest to him in this particular department.

St. Joseph, Lincoln and Denver have shown improvement in defensive tactics. The Saints lead with an increased percentage, while Lincoln has come up from sixth to third place in the rating. Wichita has become weaker in this department. When it comes to errors, Des Moines, best in slugging, horns in with 75 miscues, which makes it a bad last.

Hodges of Denver still has a clean record among the pitchers. He has won five straight and has figured in twelve games. Davenport of St. Joe has won seven but lost two, and Hall of Denver has registered nine victories but dropped three games. Cooper and Pillette are making pace for the Lincoln pitching staff.

Golfing Stars Play Next Week For Open Crown

NEW YORK, May 30.—Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, MacDonald Smith of the New York district and Bobby Jones of Atlanta are now favorites to win the national open golf championshiu, which will go to the lowest scorer in 72 holes of medal play at Worcester, Mass., Wednesday and Thursday.

Out of three sectional qualifying tests, the last of which was completed in a rainstorm yesterday at the Lido course at Long Beach, N. Y., these three have emerged with the lowest scores for 36 holes among the 96 who have become entitled to compete at Worcester.

Of the several hundred golfers, amateur and professional, who sought qualification at San Francisco, Chicago and Long Beach, Mehlhorn had the lowest score—a remarkable 71- 66—137 at Onwentsia.

Next comes Smith, who, after being a star in the metropolitan district, long played on the coast and returned this year to a Long Eland club. Two pairs of 35s enabled him to lead with 70-70—140 the star field that qualified at Lido.

The field entitled to play at Worcester consists of five payers from the coast, thirty from the middle west and 61 from the east, including the Champion, Cyril Walker, who did not have to pass a preliminary test. The best score on the coast was 75-72—147, by William I. Hunter.

Dubry Champion In Lincoln Hi Tennis

Coral Dubry won his second consecutive Lincoln high school tennis championship Friday afternoon by defeating Sam Benbrook in straight sets 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

The raquet wielders were much more evenly matched than the games show, but the superior playing of Dubry eventually decided the finl tournament watch in his favor.

Rickey Let Out As Manager of Cards; Hornsby Steps In

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 30. — Rogers Hornsby, National league batting champion, has been appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, succeeding Branch Rickey, who is made vice-president of the club, President Sam Breadon announced today. The change is effective tomorrow.
